BRYAN WAS STILL IN THE RING AT 3 O'CLOCK A. M.

Red Fire and Vast Enthusiasm Marked Early Morning Speech in Gotham.

New York, Oct. 27.—For the first time in their history at such an hour the grey walls of the old city hall were lighted up by red fire at 3 o'clock this morning, when W. J. Bryan, bare-headed and smiling, was introduced from the steps of the building to a big crowd of night workers gathered there to greet him and hear him speak on the issues of the campaign. The crowd was composed principally of employes in the big newspaper offices on Park Row, the telegraph offices and the general postoffice across the park, while here and there a yellow "duster" marked a listener from one of the big markets where work does not cease with darkness. A brass band entertained the crowd with badly played patriotic airs until the arrival of Mr. Bryan and his party and a number of lesser lights in the political field spoke briefly, but neither these interruptions nor the arrival or speech of Mr. Bryan himself disturbed the regular patrons of the park benches, scores of whom slept on undisturbed by the unusual activity in their out-of-doors sleeping place.

Mr. Bryan was accompanied by National Chairman Norman E. Mack and by Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Mack. Mr. Bryan eulogized the workers of the country and spoke at some length on the various issues of the campaign.

Mr. Bryan said that to him the meeting was one of the most interesting of the campaign.

The Dignity of Labor.

"There is not only necessity for labor," he declared, "but there is dignity in labor. I believe that the time will yet come when public sentiment will put the badge of disgrace not upon the man who with brain or muscle contributes to their nation's welfare, but upon the man who is willing to spend in idleness that which some of them have made."

He maintained that the government that rested upon the convictions of the people was the strongest possible government.

The people, he said, could govern themselves, and he asserted that the progress was constantly toward a larger participation by the people in their own government.

"If," he said, amid great cheering, "I have gained a place in your confidence it is simply because I have taken you into my confidence. If you are willing to trust me it is only because I have shown my willingness to trust you. I do not say that the people will make no mistakes. What I say is that the people have a right to make their own mistakes, and nobody has a God-given right to make them for them. I do not mean to say that I am not liable to mistake; I do say that I don't know of any reason why I should make a mistake against the people or look at questions except from the standpoint of the people."

Discusses Some of the Issues.

Mr. Bryan then took up the issues of the campaign. He discussed publicity of campaign contributions, the tariff, the trusts, panics, etc., and as regards the election of senators by direct vote he declared that he felt confident "that the people of New York by adopting that plan could not make any worse mistakes than their legislature had done."

In reference to private monopolies he said:

"We believe it will never be safe to have monopolies until God sends us angels to take charge of them and from our experience with those in charge we are inclined to believe that they come not from above but below."

Taking up the labor question he detailed the planks of the Denver platform and said he could not understand why Mr. Taft was so bitter against the trial by jury. He hoped the time would come when employers would not threaten their employes, when every employer would recognize that the responsibility of citizenship rested upon the employe as well as upon the employer. His only claim upon the suffrage of the people for election, he said, was that if they believed his election would be good for the country and that they would share in the benefits that that election would bring, he had a right to expect that they would stand for him on election day.

Busy Day for Bryan.

Mr. Bryan's program for the day was one of the busiest of the campaign.

A comparatively brief rest followed the early morning meeting in City Hall park, and then Mr. Bryan was engaged with his friends and political advisers until 10 o'clock, when he was the principal speaker at a Broadway meeting. From that time until after midnight it was to be a constant round of meetings, first in Brooklyn, then Long Island City, next a jump to Jersey City for three meetings before returning to New York to address

BIG SLUSH FUND OF $100,000 SENT TO THIS STATE

Kern Charges That Secretary of State Sims is Disbursing It.

Tipton, Ind., Oct. 27.—"I am reliably informed and make this specific charge that $100,000 of money, largely contributed by trusts and combines, were brought into Indiana last Sunday and passed through the hands of the Hon. Fred Sims, secretary of state.

John W. Kern, the democratic vice presidential nominee, made the above declaration before a good sized audience here today.

Mr. Kern accompanied by a number of other democratic campaigners arrived in a special car over the interurban and made an hours' stop. A speech was made at Noblesville, the car remaining there but a few minutes.

"I think that every thoughtful and patriotic citizen will see the necessity for the publican of campaign contributions before the election," said Mr. Kern. "The people would be much better advised as to how they should vote if they know the extent to which the great unlawful monopolies and combines were contributing money for campaign purposes, and if they also knew which party was the recipient of these contributions.

Paying for Special Favors.

Every sensible man knows that when a contribution is made to a campaign fund by one of these lawless and plundering combinations it the form of special favors."

Mr. Kern reviewed the action of the respective conventions of the leading parties with reference to publicity of campaign contributions and continued:

"I do not wonder that the republican party this year is declining to give the names of the men and corporations that are supplying its sinews of war. If the people of Indiana knew the names of these donors, Bryan would carry the state by 100,000. Such publication would disclose the fact that every unlawful combination in America has poured out money unlawfully absorbed from the peoples earnings into the republican treasury for the purpose of debauching the ballot.

Calls it a Sad Spectacle.

Reverting to the alleged $100,000 contribution recently brought into this state, Mr. Kern continued:

"Mr. Sims is a most estimable gentleman and a warm personal friend of mine, but I am compelled to say that it is a sad spectacle to see a public official who is required to pass every year upon the question as to what amount of taxes shall be levied upon the railroads and other corporations of his state, handling the money that these corporations are called upon to contribute to the campaign fund. The assessing or taxing officer, who like Mr. Upham, of Chicago, or Mr. Sims, of Indiana, has the power to raise or lower the taxes of corporations, has rare facilities for frying fat out of the corporations whose properties they are required to value.

"I hope the time may come when no public officer will be allowed to neglect his official duties and engage in such questionable business. The time is not far distant when an aroused public sentiment will so purify the political atmosphere as to make the further perpetration of such wrongs impossible.

SIMS MAKES DENIAL.

Indianapolis, Oct. 27.—When shown the story from Tipton today, wherein John W. Kern charged him with handling $100,000 of campaign funds, Fred Sims, secretary of state, said:

"This is absolutely false. I know nothing of a $100,000 campaign fund for Indiana. It is about time for such stories to be circulated, as the democrats hope to help their cause in this way."

IS NEWS TO UPHAM.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Fred W. Upham, assistant treasurer of the republican campaign fund, when shown J. W. Kern's charge that $100,000 collected largely from trusts had been sent into Indiana, said today:

"Not a dollar of anybody's money has been sent out of my office to Indiana. If there had been I would know it, and Mr. Kern's statement is untrue. I do not even know Mr. Sims. It's an end of the campaign yarn scarcely worth denying."

INSPECTION PART STARTS.

Committee and Board Looking Over the Gas Company's Work.

The members of the board of public works with Col. D. N. Foster, Louis J. Libbing, Harry F. Kennerk, Harry Achenbach, Thomas W. McKiernan, Henry Pfeiffer and Walter R. Seavey, representing the Retail Merchants' association, started from the city hall this afternoon on a trip of inspection to look over the work done by the gas company where the streets have been dug up to make new connections. The committee made a complaint to the board yesterday and went out this afternoon to make an investigation.

Hon. Thomas R. Marshall's Pastor Refutes a Campaign Slander

First Presbyterian Church

Rev. A. D. Sutherland

Minister.

Columbia City, Ind., October 26, 1908.

TO THE PEOPLE OF INDIANA:

Within the last few days I have received from a large number of persons living in various parts of the state, letters addressed to me as the pastor of the Frist Presbyterian church of Columbia City, making inquiries as to the truth of charges seriously reflecting on the sobriety and general moral character of the Hon. Thomas R. Marshall, democratic candidate for governor.

Upon my own initiative and without the suggestion or knowledge of Mr. Marshall, and wholly in the interest of fairness and decency, I take the liberty of addressing the people of this commonwealth, in answer to these many inquiries.

Mr. Marshall is not only not a drunkard, but on the contrary is a total abstainer; a practical, consistent temperance man, yet not a hypocrit nor a fanatic. His influence and support are foremost in every moral and philanthropic movement in this city. No breath of scandal of any kind rests upon him here, but he is loved and admired by all right living, right thinking moral people irrespective of sect or party.

Mrs. Marshall has always accompanied her husband on his business trips since their marriage, and she is but continuing the custom now. Having no children, it is a matter of congeniality for them to travel together; besides she is a great support to him with her sympathy and intelligent interest in this arduous campaign. Language cannot fitly portray my indignation that partisan depravity should not even spare her name.

I can speak wth authority concerning his home and church life, for I am his pastor, and he is a faithful parishioner and church officer. His home life is ideal as all who have shared its generous hospitality will bear abundant witness. As a churchman, Mr. Marshall is most conscientious, never missing a service nor shirking a duty when at home. He has been a member of my church for many years; also a trustee, bible class teacher, officer in the Brotherhood and a generous contributor to every line of church work, yet withal liberal minded and generous to other faiths.

Mr. Marshall is an alumnus and trustee of Wabash college, a 33rd degree Mason, an eminent lawyer, a sterling Christian gentleman of exemplary conduct and unblemished character.

This letter is not a partisan expression, for I have always been a republican, but is a just tribute to the worth of the man that I know and who is my friend.

Very Sincerely,

ALEXANDER D. SUTHERLAND,

Minister First Presbyterian Church.

TITANIC STRUGGLE FOR THE EMPIRE STATE

Taft Makes Run Up Hudson to Troy, Stopping at Towns En Route

New York, Oct. 27.—Today's political program is one of intense activity through New York city and state. Both presidential candidates are here, hurrying from point to point in the city and nearby towns.

Mr. Taft started for the outlying suburbs early in the day, going first to Yonkers at 9:40 a. m. and then to a series of cities and towns along the Hudson as far up as Troy.

Mr. Bryan devoted himself to Greater New York beginning at 3 a. m. in City Hall park, then, after a few hours sleep, addressing a Broadway meeting, then going to Brooklyn and Long Island City and later crossing to Jersey City.

Both of the gubernatorial candidates also devoted their attention to New York city.

Governor Hughes came down from Albany, speaking en route at Catskill, and reaching New York this afternoon to fill speaking engagements here, at Long Island City and several suburban points.

Mr. Chanler gave his attention to New York city and Brooklyn.

Attorney General Bonaparte is among the notable speakers scheduled to appear here tonight.

Mr. Hearst also is expected to make another address dealing with the subjects which have attracted widespread attention of late.

Mr. Sherman, the vice presidential candidate, will arrive in New York tonight after addressing meetings at Amsterdam and other up-state points during the day.

TAFT STARTS FOR TROY.

New York, Oct. 27.—William H. Taft left New York at 9:05 o'clock this morning for Troy, where he will arrive at 9:50 o'clock tonight. Meantime Mr. Taft will speak at Yonkers, Tarrytown, Peekskill, Fishkill Landing, Poughkeepsie, Hudson, Schenectady and Cohoes.

YONKERS CROWD BRAVES RAIN.

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Judge Taft reached here in a driving rain, but was met at the station by a big crowd. He was driven at once to the largest hall in the city, which was well filled, and made a general speech, touching on many of the issues in his usual vein.

As the crowd outside appeared to contain quite twice as many as that which had heard the candidate inside, Mr. Taft was induced to make another speech. He told the overflow meeting that a great issue of the campaign is whether or not the country shall have a return of prosperity. The republican party, he declared, was the best equipped to meet that issue.

LITTLE FOR COUNCIL.

Nothing Doing Unless Appropriation is Brought Before Body.

Unless the request made by the board of public works last Friday for something over $24,000 to be used for repairing the Alcatraz streets comes before the city council tonight there will be nothing doing except a small amount of routine business. The request is in the hands of the controller for his recommendation and he is personally opposed to expending the amount for repairs when all of the streets embraced in the request need resurfacing.

MUCH INTEREST IN MEETING OF THE DOCTORS

Probably one hundred and eighty doctors from points in northern Indiana outside of Fort Wayne, are attending the sessions of the semi-annual meeting of the Twelfth District Councilor Medical society here today. The day is one of especial interest to the members of the medical fraternity in general, as there are several well-known specialists here who this morning demonstrated their treatments of various diseases and deformities in their own individual way.

The entire morning was given over to the clinics at the St. Joseph hospital, and this afternoon the doctors are assembled in the assembly room of the court house, listening to reports upon peculiar diseases and also to papers by Dr. John Ridlon, of the chair of Orthopedic surgery in Northwestern university, by Dr. L. P. Drayer, of this city, and also by Dr. E. H. Meyers, of Bloomington. An evening session will be held at the Wayne club, at which other papers will be given and the meeting will be concluded by a smoker.

Famous Specialists Here.

Dr. John Ridlon, one of those who demonstrated at the hospital this morning, is one of the most famous authorities in the country on deformities of any part of the body. For fifteen years he has been secretary of the American Orthopedic association, consisting of not more than one hundred members. It is one of the most exclusive societies in the United States, and one to which it is a high honor to belong. Dr. Ridlon has been president of this society. Dr. H. R. Allen, professor of Orthopedic surgery in the Indiana State university, is a man whose reputation as one of the most able physicians in this line of surgery extends beyond the borders of many states. Dr. B. H. Meyers, professor of anatomy in the Bloomington university, is also well-known and is very highly regarded in the medical fraternity.

Cases at the Hospital.

Doctors from this district had three cases suffering from orthopedic diseases to present to Dr. Ridlon, but owing to the advanced stages in which they were all found to be, the famous doctor expressed his belief that little good could be done for them.

He then "presented" the treatment of the diseases by the aid of the charts and with the help of a model. Dr. Allen operated upon three cases of club-feet and although nothing definite can yet be said, it is thought that all of them are successful. The cases were brought in from points other than this city.

Used No Instruments.

The manner in which Dr. Allen performed these operations was a revelation to many of those who witnessed them. Dr. Allen was formerly the center rush on the foot ball team of Harvard college and was known as the "strong man" of the college. Today he used no instruments, but set the bones and did all his work merely with his hands. As an illustration of his strength, Dr. Allen took a fifty cent piece and broke it in two parts.

Dr. Maurice Rosenthal, of this city, spent the remainder of the morning

BEVERIDGE SLANTS ACROSS INDIANA WITH TRAIN

Goes from Fort Wayne to Decatur and Thence to the Southwest.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 27.—Senator Beveridge left Fort Wayne this morning on his special train for his second day's speaking tour.

BEVERIDGE AT BLUFFTON.

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 27.—The prettiest stage setting for a speech thus far was at Bluffton, where a thousand school children and a thousand men and women were packed on and about the broad steps of the court house.

J. W. Sale took Mr. Beveridge in his automobile to the court house and the senator stood in the midst of the crowd about half way up the steps while speaking.

From across the wide street it was a pretty sight, but there was so much noise that he could not be heard at the edge of the crowd. The children especially seemed inclined to yell their heads off, most of the yells being for Bryan. But the senator, with George Ade at his side, did his best.

ROOSEVELT PASSES HALF CENTURY MILEPOST

President Celebrates Event by Digging Into Work at His Desk.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Theodore Roosevelt, twenty-sixth president of the United States, became fifty years old today. He began his fifty-first year by getting to his desk early and spending the day hard at work in his office receiving such members of his cabinet as are in town at the regular semi-weekly meeting and discussing with them matters relating to their departments.

Congratulatory messages poured into the president's office and at the white house all day. Many foreign rulers took advantage of the opportunity to send messages of warm friendship and good will through their diplomatic representatives, who called in person to present them to the president.

Many others of the white house callers were persons who came to extend their congratulations. Among these was a delegation of the members of the Hungarian Republican club, of New York, who yearly on this day pay their compliments to the president and offer the congratulations of the club

ENGINEERS TO MEET AND TALK OVER PLANS

Wabash and City Officials Discuss Elevation Matters.

As the result of an informal conference of thirty minutes between President F. A. Delano, of the Wabash system, and A. O. Cunningham, chief engineer of the road, and Mayor W. J. Hosey, Chairman E. J. Lennon and Members Henry Schwartz and Jesse Brosius, of the board of public works, and Frank Randall, city civil engineer, and General Manager C. D. Emmons, of the local traction company, it was decided to call as soon as possible a meeting between the engineers of the two railroads and the Fort Wayne and Springfield Traction company to settle definitely upon plans of track elevation in this city, after which the financial problem of the project will be taken up.

Mr. Delano and his party arrived a few minutes before 10 o'clock this morning and the city officials met him at the depot. Following the formal introductions Mayor Hosey opened the discussion with the statement that the track elevation situation is growing acute for the reason that the city has been for a couple of years levying a tax to pay its portion of the costs and that citizens are getting impatient and are asking some embarrassing questions as to why actual work has not been started.

Wabash Ready to Take It Up.

The Wabash president stated that his company would be glad to take the matter up and cited that although the company had been putting up a bold front it had just passed through the worst year of its existence. He said he wants the Wabash to stand well with the people and realized that Fort Wayne is an important point. He called attention to the fact that high elevation in addition to the expense would practically destroy freight facilities here.

Some questions were asked as to the attitude of the Pennsylvania company and Mr. Cunningham injected new interest into the discussion by saying that elevation would mean better passenger facilities for both roads, which made the proposition a big one to handle.

The questions of elevation and depression brought out that there is a difference of only about six inches to overcome and Mr. Delano said this ought not to cut much figure as the road could certainly stand ten feet six inches if it could stand ten feet. He added that every inch the tracks go up will entail new difficulties as it makes it harder to reach the industries.

Mr. Emmons explained that his company was not largely interested in the matter of the height of the subway as only the city cars will pass under and anything that will accommodate general traffic will suit him. He explained that the interurbans of the Decatur line run a single phase system with high insulation on top of the cars that makes them several inches higher than the ordinary traction car.

President Delano's Suggestion.

Mr. Delano suggested that it would be much cheaper to change the cars operated by the company than to entail a big expense by going up a few inches to accommodate them. Mr. Cunningham stated at this point that the Wabash officials would want something tangible to work on and that as the whole question was an engineering problem at this stage that the engineers ought to get together and decide upon something.

Mr. Randall demurred and said he thought the matter was up to the railroad officials as the engineers had practically completed their work, but it was decided to call the meeting anyhow. Mr. Lennon told the president that the city is ready to make any reasonable concessions in the matter of vacating streets when it comes to the question of depot and freight

WILLIAMS IS NEXT BIG CARD IN POLITICS

Famous Son of Massachusetts Here Tomorrow—Other Political Notes.

Hon. George Fred Williams, of Massachusetts, comes to Fort Wayne Wednesday evening as the next nationally known speaker of the present campaign, and he will urge the claims of democracy in an address at Princess rink, with Samuel M. Foster presiding. Mr. Williams is one of the most distinguished of eastern democrats and he has been steadfast in the faith. His address in Fort Wayne in 1896 is still recalled with pleasure by those who heard it, and he was one of the men whose efforts resulted in the election of W. L. Douglas, the famous shoe manufacturer, as governor of Massachusetts.

Parade Will be Given.

Local democratic marching clubs will give a parade in Mr. Williams' honor. The organizations will report at the democratic headquarters at 7:30 o'clock, and the line will move north on Harrison street to Columbia, east on Columbia to Barr, south on Barr to Jefferson, west on Jefferson to Calhoun, north on Calhoun to Main, and west on Main to Princess rink.

A large number of vice presidents have been named for the evening, the list including M. M. Plumadore, C. O. Lepper, T. J. O'Dowd, E. H. Kirkland, E. B. Smith, J. J. Bauer, Dan Hauss, J. J. SUMMER COLONY AT SALISBURY BEACH IS WIPED OUT

Fire Destroys Over 100 Cottages With a Loss of $100,000.

Salisbury, Mass., Oct. 27.—The greater portion of the thickly housed summer colony at Salisbury beach was wiped out early today by a fire which destroyed more than one hundred cottages situated along the beach front north of the Merrimac river. Practically all of the business houses had been abandoned for the season and the damage was estimated at $100,000.

After the flames had raged for three hours the combined fire fighting forces of Amesbury, Salisbury and Newburyport, together with the half dozen life savers from the Salisbury beach station and a little band of volunteers, pulled down several cottages standing between the burning area and the larger hotels and dance halls and in this way prevented the fire from reaching that section.

A few of the smaller hotels of the resort were burned. The fire started in the New Era cottage, owned by Former State Treasurer F. B. Shaw.

Among the larger buildings destroyed were Hope chapel, the little Methodist Episcopal place of worship used during the summer season, and the school house of the Salisbury Beach settlement.

HOISEN CONVICTED AND A NEW AFFIDAVIT IS FILED

Rolling Mill Saloon Keeper Gets Into Additional Trouble.

Zach Hoisen, keeper of one of the saloons in the rolling mill district, that has given the police and sheriff lots of trouble for two years, was convicted in the city court today of assault and battery and fined $10 and costs. After he had taken an appeal he was arrested on a affidavit filed by Chief Ankenbruck of the police department, charging him with allowing minors to loiter in his saloon.

A young Roumanian took the stand and testified that he was in the saloon during a fight that caused the assault and battery charge against Hoisen.

"How old are you?" asked E. V. Emerick, who was assisting the state in the prosecution.

"Eighteen," replied the lad.

"Oh, no," said Hoisen, "he told me he was eighteen last year."

With this information to back his complaint the chief had an affidavit drawn and signed it. The rolling mills saloons are so badly conducted that the police and sheriff's forces want to close them and are heaping up evidence against the proprietors.

There were two plain drunks on tap. John Hains got $1 and costs, and his fine was suspended. Frank Wolke got an hour to leave the city.

RUDISILL WILL CHARGE JOCKER WITH GRAND LARCENY

Man Who Stole Clover Seed Will Answer for Crime.

Jacob Rudisill, from whom nine sacks of clover seed were stolen on Sunday night, will file an affidavit charging Charles Jocker with grand larceny and the case will be taken to the circuit court for trial. Jocker was captured Monday by Marshal George Fogel, of Roanoke, who held him for Sheriff Grice and Deputy Hughes. They returned to the city with him late Monday afternoon.

The prisoner is Rudisill's brother-in-law and invited suspicion by trying to sell the clover seed much below the market value. He has been living at Rudisill's and Sunday told the family he was going to Chicago. Instead he came to Fort Wayne, hired a rig from Matt Momper and went back after the seed. He managed to get it out of the house without detection and drove to Roanoke.

Jocker refused to say anything about the theft except to state that he didn't know whether he had stolen the seed or not. Mr. Rudisill declined at first to file an affidavit against his brother-in-law, but afterward changed his mind.

the College Men's Democratic club at the Hoffman house. After dinner there was to be a hurried trip to Harlem before the candidate goes to Brooklyn for the last series of efforts in his strenuous day, the last being an address at Eckford hall, being at a quarter past twelve.

All factions of the democratic party in Brooklyn took part in the day's demonstration for Mr. Bryan. He was the guest of Michael J. Flaherty, former sheriff and anti-McCarren leader, at luncheon. Later in the day it was planned for Senator McCarren to bring the presidential candidate to Brooklyn in an automobile to address several meetings, one of which at least, was arranged by Senator McCarren's opponents.

Short Sleep for Bryan.

Although Mr. Bryan did not reach his hotel until after 4 o'clock this morning, he was up a little after 9 o'clock and had conferences with many democrats, including Senator McCarren and Perry Belmont. Mr. Bryan said that he felt very well after his twenty-two hour speaking trip yesterday, and declared it was the most strenuous he had ever had.

Mr. Bryan estimated that he spoke to nearly three hundred thousand people during the day. Mr. Bryan began his day's speaking tour at the rooms of the Order of Acorns in Broadway, where Lieutenant Governor Chanler was also a speaker. An hour before the meeting was scheduled to begin a long line of people formed on Broadway awaiting entrance. When the doors were opened the room was quickly filled.

Mr. Chanler was greeted with great enthusiasm as he entered the hall.

houses and the mayor added his confirmation.

There was some talk among the engineers upon the technical questions of elevation and a general exchange of ideas, but aside from the fact that the engineers' meeting was decided upon there was nothing doing. Just when this meeting will be called is largely dependent upon when all of the interested parties can find time to get together.

Several persons asked questions and he answered them.

Many democrats were present and when Snator Beveridge asked the crowd if there was a man present who intends to vote for Bryan a sea of hands went up.

"All right. Now, why?" the senator asked.

But there was no answer.

CROWD AT LOGANSPORT.

Monticello, Ind., Oct. 27.—The Elks hall at Logansport was crowded with persons who wanted to hear Mr. Beveridge. He discussed the labor question there because Logansport is a strong union labor town. He spoke forty-five minutes.

He declared his belief in unions of labor as well as of capital.

"Mr. Kern is to be here in an hour and speak to you," he said. "I want you to ask him what labor law on the statute books he and his party propose to repeal. Before the Denver convention Kern denounced the very anti-injunction plank that the democrats put in their platform, and on which he now stands. Ask him whether he was right then or right now."

Administrator Asks a Big Sum for Budd's Fatal Injuries.

A new suit was filed in the circuit court today by George Motz as administrator of the estate of John O. Budd, asking damages in the sum of $10,000 of the Central Union Telephone company and making Edgar L. Taylor a defendant in the action. Mr. Taylor is the local manager.

The complaint sets out that Budd went out in front of his boarding house on Baker street on March 6 of this year to remove a wire that was dangling over the sidewalk and emitting sparks and received a shock that caused his death. A few months ago suit was filed for $3,000. Budd had no wife or children and the surviving relatives interested in the action are his father and sister and brother. P. B. Colerick and C. J. Ryan are the attorneys.

Damage Suit on Trial.

In the superior court this afternoon the damage suit of Nelson Hoffer against Edward White was placed on trial before a jury. Hoffer claims that he was knocked down and run over at Washington boulevard and Grant avenue on May 2 by Mr. White's automobile, which was in charge of his chauffeur. The demand is for $2,000.

PRINCE HENRY TAKES FLIGHT.

Friedrichshafen, Oct. 27.—Count Zeppelin's air ship made an ascension this morning with Prince Henry of Prussia and Captain Mischke as passengers. The air ship started in the direction of Ueberlingen to the northward of Lake Constance and made its way against a strong northwest wind at the rate of thirty-seven miles an hour. Count Zeppelin himself was steering. The air ship, which was at an altitude of six hundred feet, soon disappeared behind a gray bank of clouds. It was last seen in the vicinity of Schaffhausen. It is the intention of the Count to remain in the air several hours.

LIGHTING COMPANY MAN HURT.

One of the drivers of an Indiana Lighting company wagon was thrown off the wagon on Wells street in front of the Wayne Manufacturing company at 3 o'clock this afternoon and his left leg was broken and otherwise badly injured by being run over by the front wheel. One of the staves broke and the horse started forward. The man is of foreign birth and was unable to give his name.

Stephen B. Fleming Replies

To William J. Vesey's Evasions in Running Away from Mr. Fleming's Fair Challenge to a Public Debate on the Issues Between Them—Mr. Fleming's Statement.

After receiving William J. Vesey's letter declining to debate or to make his charges before a fair-minded audience, Stephen B. Fleming today sent to The Sentinel the following:

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 26, 1908.
Editor of The Sentinel:

Complying with your request, beg to advise that I believe that I have given Judge Vesey a proper opportunity to sustain the charges which he has made against me and that his declining to do so in an acknowledgment on his part that the charges I made are true.

My charges are that in public speech and by pamphlet he has distorted the facts and made statements which are absolutely false.

The reasons for his refusal to debate with me are merely subterfuges, the first being "All of the people of Allen and Adams counties, including women and young men, are entitled to know the facts, but few of them could attend a public discussion." Second, "The subjects discussed tend to increase party spirit and create bitterness and antagonism that should be avoided, as the people are interested only in knowing the truths."

It is a very late date, in my opinion, to raise the question of party spirit, bitterness and antagonism, when he deliberately has refused to confine himself to the truth. He has maligned and misrepresented me in his speeches, and in a certain pamphlet which he circulated at a time when he knew I would not have sufficient time to circulate a similar pamphlet giving the real facts.

To briefly sum up my opponent's attacks on me, they are, first, my position on the liquor question, and, second, my position as to corporations.

The action of the special session of the legislature took the liquor question out of the campaign. If during my term of office it again comes up for consideration my position will be along the lines of the policy adopted by the democratic party, and I will not only vote for, but will actively support, the position which the democratic party takes upon this question. At all times my personal interests will be subservient to my party's position and the public interests.

Every ward or township should have the right by remonstrance or by vote to decide whether a license should be granted or not. I will not favor any legislation which will in any way impair or weaken the effect of this right.

Second: As to corporations, and in particular the anti-trust bill when that was introduced, the democratic members of the senate on the floor discussed the same and said that the bill simply was a subterfuge introduced by the republican party to establish a record for the following campaign; that the bill was not effective; that it did not meet the issue squarely, and that it would not keep a single trust from doing business in the state. It is now more than six years since the bill was passed, and the fact that not a single trust has been ejected from the state or prevented from coming into the state, affirms the position taken by the other democrats and myself on the floor of the senate.

I have not a single dollar in any corporation that will be affected by the most stringest corporation laws, and will actively support and vote for any honest and effective measures which may be introduced in the next two sessions.

As to the introduction of the New Jersey law I did so, and my position on that is that as long as a foreign corporation, whether it be a corporation under the laws of New Jersey or Arizona, can come into this state and operate—that is to say, until we have a law in this state requiring that the incorporating fee shall be left in Indiana to reduce our taxes in this state instead of this fee being expended in other states, or that foreign corporations doing business in this state shall be restricted to the same power as an Indiana corporation, I shall maintain my position on this point. If we have the effect we should have the fee also.

A foreign corporation today has more legal power and privileges in Indiana than a corporation formed under the laws of this state. For this reason Mr. Vesey incorporated the Noche Buena Sonora Mining company with a capital stock of $1,000,000 in Arizona and deprived the state of Indiana of the incorporating fee.

Mr. Vesey states: "Fleming's company was fined $13,000." I pronounce this statement to be a direct falsehood and made for political effect and will withdraw from the race for senator if the judge can prove that since I was connected with the American Seating company, either as stockholder or officer, it has been fined or that any complaint has been filed against it.

I hold also that the statement that I closed down the mills for the filler business was likewise made for political effect, and the facts are that I have never owned a dollar in a company manufacturing fillers nor have I had a voice in the management of any of the plants as to whether they operate or not. The company which I am connected with is purely a commission company, which buys fillers from the manufacturer and sells them at a higher price, if the market will pay it, and in none of the contracts of purchase is the manufacturing company limited as to their production.

In respect to my being connected with a trust I do not own a dollar of stock in any company that is a trust. The only two companies I am connected with to any extent are the Berghoff Brewing association and the American Seating company, which latter company does a business of two and a half to three millions each year, and the total sales of the articles manufactured by the seating companies in this country are between thirty-two and thirty-five million dollars per annum.

Relative to my position on the labor question I stand absolutely with my party, and the brewing company has no employe who is not a member of a union; and all the plants of the American Seating company are either wholly or partly unionized. I believe myself to be the best kind of a friend of labor, as I have not now and never did have a dollar a part of which was not divided with labor. Every investment which I have is an investment which gives employment to labor, and the fact that I have had from one hundred to several thousand laboring men in my employ in the past fifteen years without ever having a strike or a dissension answers to my mind adequately any question of my position on this point.

As to depriving property owners of the right of selecting paving materials, this is a debatable question. Many believe that the decision should be left with the city governing powers or a board in order that the city will be built up systematically and along uniform lines. In reference to this bill the statement was made: "When it is remembered that Fleming was then representing the brick paving combine the purpose of the Fleming bill will be easily understood." I pronounce this statement as a falsehood and one made for political effect. The foregoing statements should prove conclusively that the pamphlet was gotten out for political effect and to further his canvass. My opponent has not hesitated to resort to falsehood and a distortion of facts. I would be delighted if he would change his mind and discuss the issues presented at Princess rink on Friday evening of this week. With W. J. Vesey personally I have no quarrel, but W. J. Vesey, the candidate, I pronounce a political fakir and a hypocrite.

Yours truly,
1t. S. B. FLEMING.

ler speaking in German and Mr. Rappaport in English. The City Packard band will play, and there will be a tremendous outpouring of German-American voters. Mr. Keller is the president of the Joseph Keller Dry Goods company at Indianapolis, and Mr. Rappaport, now a lawyer, was for many years a newspaper publisher in Indianapolis. The theme of the evening will be "Personal Liberty and the Elections."

Six democratic meetings are scheduled for this evening. Hon. J. M. Robinson will preside at a meeting to be held at the city hall for the purpose of organizing a Tom Marshall club among railroad men and shop workers everywhere. There will be a Wayne township meeting at Rudisill and Fairfield avenue with Cyrus Cline and A. A. Adams, of Columbia City as the speakers; a Sixth ward meeting at 2026 Broadway with Mr. Cline, W. H. Shambaugh and William Fruechtenicht as speakers; a Fifth ward meeting at 706 West Washington street, where S. B. Fleming and Harry Hilgeman will be the speakers, and a Fourth ward meeting at Hendricks and Martin streets, where Henry Colerick and O. P. Eversole are to speak. Judge O'Rourke and H. L. Somers will speak at New Haven.

The Beveridge address last night was the final big meeting of the republican campaign in Fort Wayne, and the remainder of the week is to be devoted to the ward meetings. This evening C. R. Lane and B. F. Harper will speak in Springfield township; Congressman Gilhams will speak at Neumeyer's hall in the Eighth ward; E. V. Harris and D. Burns Douglass are billed to speak at Sheldon and Judge W. J. Vesey and E. R. Yarnelle will speak at the Fairfield school house. Messrs. Bash, Lukens and the Tenth ward glee club will be heard in the Seventh ward at Wallace and Lafayette streets.

Representatives of both the democratic and republican speakers' committees got together last evening and reached a compromise on the dates for noon meetings at the factories this week. Each party had gone forward and billed its meetings for noonday talks to the shopmen and on Monday the democratic speakers were first on the ground and got practically all the crowds. There was no disposition to take undue advantage, however, and the compromise was readily reached in order to give the republicans an equal show in the matter.

* * *

J. M. Evans, of Pennsylvania, said to be former treasurer of the Federation of Labor, will deliver a republican address to shopmen and railroad men at republican headquarters Wednesday evening.

* * *

Fort Wayne will send a considerable delegation of democrats to Huntington Thursday evening, when Hon. Thomas R. Marshall delivers an address in that city. The interurban line is offering reduced rates for the event.

* * *

The Ninth ward democratic club, headed by its drum corps, will join the Fourth ward's democratic meeting at Hendricks street and Broadway this evening.

Judge John H. Aiken and O. P. Eversole delivered democratic addresses at Whiting today, and Mr. Eversole has been selected to close the campaign at Bluffton Saturday evening.

Hon. John W. Kern, democratic nominee for vice president, together with the distinguished party of speakers now touring Indiana with him, is scheduled to pass through Fort Wayne this evening, en route to Decatur for a night meeting. The party will transfer from the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley to the Fort Wayne and Decatur trolley line here, and will return to Fort Wayne at the close of the Decatur addresses.

Newspaper correspondents with Senator Beveridge's train are relating a number of amusing incidents in which Cartoonist McCutcheon, George Ade and Sampel G. Blythe are figuring. Mr. McCutcheon fooled Beveridge at North Judson Monday. McCutcheon was in an automobile and went to the hall, but he heard a rumor that Beveridge would introduce him to the crowd and ask him to make a speech. Beveridge closed his speech by introducing McCutcheon, and then turned around for him. But McCutcheon was not there. He had made a bee line for the train as soon as he heard the rumor. Then Beveridge had to tell about the modesty of genius.

On the way to Walkerton George Ade showed that he is a real farmer by talking corn to the rest of the bunch. The train was passing long fields of corn, and Ade and another of the party were discussing the amount of corn that remains to be gathered.

"Corn," said Sam Blythe. "Where is the corn?"

"That is it right outside," replied Ade. "Why, is that corn?" asked Blythe. "It looks so funny I did not known it was corn."

But after Ade explained it to him and assured him that it was really corn, Blythe settled down and admitted that he had learned something.

John McCutcheon partly recovered from his stage fright before the train got to Walkertoon, and was willing to be introduced. The rest of the crowd had talked him into it, assuring him that everything would be all right. So when Beveridge mounted the bandstand steps McCutcheon was close by. He looked at Beveridge, intently balancing himself on one foot, ready to spring forward and be introduced. But it was not for him. The senator used all the time himself, and McCutcheon did not get in the game. On the way back to the train, however, Beveridge assured him that he would give him a chance before the day was over. Mr. McCutcheon spoke briefly at Warsaw, and Mr. Ade joined the hand-shaking party, but did not attempt an address.

Louis Ludlow, political writer for the Indianapolis Star, was in the city this afternoon. Mr. Ludlow took a hurried glance at the outlook in the Twelfth district and hurried away to South Bend.

Judge R. K. Erwin and H. Waveland Kerr will address a democratic meeting at Arcola this evening.

* * *

Tomorrow evening at the First ward democratic headquarters Hon. J. Fred France, of Huntington, and Attorney H. L. Somers, of this city, will be the speakers.

John H. Hector, the "black knight" of prohibition, was in the city this afternoon en route to Monroeville, where he is to speak this evening. James E. Graham accompanied Mr. Hector to Monroeville.

Allen county prohibitionists will have their final rally of the present campaign at the court house Monday evening, when Rev. W. P. Shamhart will be the speaker and Prof. Moore and his quartet will sing. On the same evening James E. Graham and S. L. Wass will speak at Lafayette Center school house.

* * *

Deputy Auditor Cal Brown sent out notices today to the election officers in the precincts where voting machines will be used, making arrangements to meet them and instruct them as to their duties. The county commissioners, accompanied by an agent of the company manufacturing the machines, will go to Cedar Creek township Thursday night and to Monroeville on Friday morning. Friday evening the officers of the Sixth ward will be instructed at 2026 Broadway.

THE DEATHS.

CHRISTMAN.

Mrs. Mary Margaret Christman, wife of Peter Christman, died Monday evening at her home near Sheldon at the age of 44 years.

Death was due to a complication of diseases. She was born and reared in Madison township and was well known. Funeral services from the Catholic church at Sheldon Thursday morning.

GREEN.

Mrs. Malinda J. Green, colored, wife of Noah W. Green, of 312 Brooklyn avenue, died very suddenly at 4 o'clock this morning at the Hedekin house, where she had been employed for some time. Coroner Kesler gave it as his opinion that death had been due to an affection of the heart.

Mrs. Green arose early today and reached the hall outside her room. Here she found a guest of the house leaving his room and asked that the landlady be called quickly. Before the latter could reach her room Mrs. Green had died. The deceased was 58 years of age and leaves the husband and nine children.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Schafer.—Funeral services of Mrs. Christian Schafer will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the residence in Lake township and at 2 o'clock from Bethlehem Lutheran church.

PICKPOCKETS WORK THE BEVERIDGE CROWD AT RINK

Two Robberies Reported to the Police After Meeting.

Pickpockets were at work in the crowd at the Beveridge meeting at Princess rink last night and two cases were reported to the police last night. C. W. Sperry, of 2432 Hoagland avenue, says he was relieved of $63, while B. DeGraf, of Grand Rapids, said he had $14 taken from him.

Mr. Sperry stated that the money had just been paid to him and he had it in his vest pocket and did not miss it until after the meeting was over, when he made a search for his roll and found it was gone. He also said he does not remember having been jostled in the crowd and stated that his coat was buttoned all the time during the meeting.

DeGrof says he met a fellow at the south depot who walked down town with him. He told this fellow he did not want him along, but he hung around just the same and is suspected of having gotten the money. The police think that in both cases the money may have been lost, as there were no other cases reported.

The Afternoon Session.

The afternoon meeting in the court house convened at 1:30 o'clock and reports were given by Dr. H. G. Nierman and Dr. Drayer, Dr. Fred Metts, of Ossian; Dr. B. W. Rhamy, Dr. G. Van Sweringen, Dr. C. R. Dancer, Dr. E. M. Van Buskirk, Dr. A. L. Kane, Dr. Chas. Beall and Dr. W. D. Carver, of Albion. The papers by Drs. Ridlon, Drayer and Meyers were also discussed by a number of the general doctors.

Some of the doctors now in the city may return to their homes before the evening session at the Wayne club is concluded, but a number of them have expressed their intention of remaining throughout the entire day.

Prof. G. D. Liveing, who recently resigned from the chair of chemistry at Cambridge, England, had acted in that capacity for forty-seven years. He was succeeded by W. Jackson Pope, from the University of Manchester.

A Little Woman Beards President Roosevelt.

Mrs. Annie Riley Hale in a Book Fearlessly Sets Down the Characteristics of the Nation's Head as He Appears to Her in His Person as a Mere Man—Lady Commentator on Men and Affairs Has Candid and Waspish Pen.

A DEDICATION.

"To the galleries, to whom my hero has played so long and so successfully, this little volume is affectionately dedicated."

New York, Oct. 27.—In the foregoing terse and, perhaps, sarcastic sentence is announced the latest contribution to political literature, of which the title is "Rooseveltian Fact and Fable," and the author, Mrs. Annie Riley Hale, a Washington woman, hurls from its pages a broadside that would do honor to a quarter member of the "Knockers' Club." Mrs. Hale's book starts right off in the first chapter with a crash, and continues the bombardment on the Roosevelt camp up to the moment that she hurls the final javelin on the last page.

The book is notable principally for the fact that it has furnished the author a medium to rush in where stalwart masculine adversaries of the president have feared to tread. A political set-to with Mr. Roosevelt is something all the big men in either party have dodged with skill. Even Mr. Bryan has not undertaken it. Senator Foraker has sent in his regrets and asked to be excused. Whatever passage at arms the president has had with any of his foes has been a distinctly one-sided affair, because the other fellow didn't want to start anything he couldn't finish.

Frail and Looks Timid.

And so, while his timorous foes are standing at a safe distance from the danger zone, Mrs. Hale forges to the front and knocks the chip off the president's shoulder. Mrs. Hale is a frail little woman, who wears glasses and doesn't look the least bit an aggressive fighter, but she has come into the fray with a single bound and has shown not the slightest temerity about it, either.

Mrs. Hale's motive in writing the book has not been made exactly clear. Her publishers, the Broadway Publishing company, say she has always taken an interest in political matters, and hasn't been an admirer of the Roosevelt administration. She just told them she wanted the book published, and hoped that it would get out around the country before the campaign was over.

Taking up the cudgels right at the start of her work, this political Diana drops Joli number one into the Roosevelt fortifications in the following manner:

"He early exhibited the restless energy which delights in stirring up things, and an insatiable desire for the limelight which time hath not abated. In the first year he learned the value of dramatic display and the full importance of liberal advertising."

Hits at Biographers.

Then she takes a fall or two out of the biographers of the president. Jacob A. Riis, whom the president likes to call "New York's best citizen," is mentioned frequently as the "devoted Riis" and the "faithful Riis." Francis Leupp, Indian commissioner, is referred to as "Apologist Leupp," and others who have written about the achievements of Mr. Roosevelt come in for a lot of sharp criticism.

After this brief interruption Mrs. Hale continues on her way. She takes up the president's entrance into national politics at the time James G. Blaine and Grover Cleveland opposed one another for the presidency and finds some significance in the way the president acted then.

"And what of Theodore Roosevelt in this crisis," she says. "The Cleveland program was the Roosevelt program, as Roosevelt himself had noisily proclaimed it from his seat among the reformers. Surely, for this earnest, insistent young 'reformer' of lofty ideals and clamorous honesty there could be but one choice between these two. Nay, gentle reader, be not overhasty in judging the actions of the great. Theodore Roosevelt bade adieu to his reform associates without a tremor and cheerily took his stand under the banner of the 'Plumed Knight.'"

Mrs. Hale resumes her hunt, with the spirit of a born Diana, in the second chapter, which comes under the heading of "The San Juan Hill Myth." In this she gives the president credit for having enjoyed one original idea. Mr. Leupp, she writes, says the idea of decking out the Rough Riders in picturesque garb was all thought out by Mr. Roosevelt without assistance, even though the "Rough Riders had been riding while Roosevelt was yet in swaddling clothes."

"So many 'ideas' and 'policies' have been attributed to Mr. Roosevelt," she continues, "which rightfully belonged elsewhere that it is positively refreshing to encounter one Rooseveltian idea whose authorship is undisputed."

Whereupon Mrs. Hale sets about the task of proving that history is all wrong and that the president, while a colonel of the Rough Riders, wasn't mixed up in that San Juan Hill engagement at all, but just looked on from some nearby spot while all the excitement was going on.

Secretary Alger is pointed to as the historian whose writings prove this, and a paragraph from the "Rough Riders," written by the president, is quoted as further substantiation. This paragraph is quoted as follows: "We had a splendid view of the charge on San Juan blockhouse to our left and a third of a mile to front, where the infantry of Kent, led by Hawkins, was climbing the hill."

A deep mystery is found by Mrs. Hale in connection with the picture depicting the charge of San Juan Hill, painted by Vereschagin, a famous Russian artist. She says the picture was originally placed on exhibition in the white house, but disappeared in a mysterious manner. What really happened to it, according to her version, was that it was brought to this city and sold for $10,000. This gentle comment is inserted at this point:

By Death, Escapes.

"Vereschagin might have unfolded a tale to set all doubt at rest, but he did not tarry long in this country after tion that the universe somehow revolves about his belt was evolved that other engaging idea that everything was wrong until he touched it." finishing this masterpiece and thereafter very prudently got himself drowned on board a Russian battleship at the siege of Port Arthur, thereby escaping membership in the Annias club."

One of the author's especially guarded statements regarding the president is that "out of the entertaining no-

She is positive, too, that he would have attempted to reform all the statesmen who in past years were regarded as great "had they not considerately passed off the boards before he came up with them."

In the preface to her book the little woman proudly announces that she was born a Presbyterian.

Northern Indiana News and Gossip

The Elkhart round house of the Big Four railroad burned Saturday night.

John McPheters, a pioneer resident of Noble county, died Sunday at his home southeast of Albion.

C. S. Wolff, an aged Ligonier man, died a few days ago at the home of his daughter in Kendallville.

Mrs. Alleman, wife of Rev. J. B. Alleman, a retired minister, died Saturday at her home in Warsaw.

D. A. Purviance has purchased the grain elevators of Schulenberg Bros. & Weber at Huntington and Mardenis.

Mrs. Justinia Therman, a pioneer resident of Whitley county, died Sunday at her home in Washington township.

Rev. S. Gomp, a retired minister at Kendallville, has been stricken with paralysis and is in a critical condition.

Rev. L. L. Carpenter, of Wabash, though suffering from a fractured rib, has officiated at the dedication of three churches during the last two weeks.

While William Kleinknight and family, of Toscin, Wells county, were attending church Sunday evening, thieves entered their home and stole $24 in cash.

Dr. Thomas H. Stabler, said to have been the oldest minister in the North Indiana M. E. conference, is dead at Greenfield. Some years ago he was pastor of the M. E. church at Decatur.

The Noble County Bar association met at Albion Monday to take suitable action upon the retirement of Judge Joseph W. Adair from the bench. Judge Adair was appointed to the bench in 1889 and has served continuously since that time, having been re-elected three times.

Bloomfield and Clay townships, Lagrange county, at a special election held Monday, declined to give a subsidy for the building of the proposed Lagrange and Ligonier trolley line. Eden and Clearspring townships had already turned down the proposition and it is expected that the result will practically kill the project.

The old grist mill at Leo, which had stood as a land mark on the banks of the St. Joe river for forty-six years, tumbled into the stream Saturday night and is a total wreck. The old structure had been gradually settling upon its foundations for years and finally gave way beneath the weight of machinery. It had recently been used by Orange Maxfield, who ground feed there.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR DANDRUFF.

Zemo stops itching instantly and will cure any case of Dandruff or itching scalp. Zemo destroys the germ that causes the disease and prevents falling hair. It will give the hair a rich glossy color and leave the scalp in a clean, healthy condition.

Zemo is the best remedy for tender or sore face and is delightful when used after shaving. For sale by Meyer Bros. Co.

Two sisters, Harriet S. and Pauline F. Devereux, upon the completion of their course at Mount Holyoke college in the class of 1900, established the Devereux company as a copartnership and started in the coal and wood trade at Castine, Me. As a result of their energy and attention to business two years later they were able to establish a branch at Bucksport. During the last year they have more than doubled the capacity of both yards.

Meyer Bros. Co. are pleased to announce to their customers that they have secured the agency for Zemo, the best known remedy for the positive and permanent cure of Eczema, Pimples, Dandruff, Blackheads, Piles and every form of Skin or Scalp disease. Zemo gives instant relief and cures by destroying the germ that causes the disease, leaving a nice clear healthy skin. See display and photos of cures made by Zemo.

W. R. C. ENTERTAINMENT.

The W. R. C. entertainment given on Friday evening was a success and was well attended, regardless of the rain. The exercises began by singing "America" and was followed by prayer by Rev. Stafford, of the Church of Christ, after which there was speaking and singing. Mary Brouler and Christie Williams sang a very appropriate selection. There was also a number of children who sang some very beautiful pieces. Miss Agnes Schlachter and three other young ladies favored us with some beautiful selections on the piano, after which a number of old soldiers made short speeches. Mrs. Wolff, our old army nurse, was with us and spoke very nicely of her experiences as a nurse to the old soldiers in the war of '61 to '65, which was appreciated by all. The entertainment was brought to a close by serving refreshments to which the old soldiers did ample justice to all good things provided for them and was enjoyed by all.

ECZEMA IS NOW CURABLE.

Zemo, a scientific preparation for external use, stops itching instantly and destroys the germs that cause the disease.

This remarkable medicine has cured more chronic cases of Eczema and other skin diseases than all other remedies on the market combined. Meyer Bros. Co., the Drugists, say they believe Zemo to be an honest medicine and that it will do all that is claimed for it.

DEMOCRATS GAIN IN OMAHA.

Complete Registration Figures Show Marked Difference Over 1904.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 27.—Complete registration returns this year in Omaha became public yesterday. It is shown that 18,282 voters declared themselves republicans, 8,929 democrats, while 1,214 were divided among other parties and those who declined to state their political preferences, the total registration being 23,465. This is a gain of 2,034 over 1904. As compared with four years ago the republican registration shows a falling off of 263, while there is a gain of 3,937 for the democrats.

Fourteen Years of Suffering With Inflammatory Rheumatism

Mrs. Maurice White, whose address is R. F. D. No. 6, Wabash, Ind., and who lives about two miles from La Fontaine, was cured of a stubborn case of inflammatory rheumatism which she describes as follows:

"I suffered for fourteen years with inflammatory rheumatism before I found a cure in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It attacked me when a young girl and I think I inherited it, as my mother suffered with it for years. I suffered terribly with pains in the joints of my hands, wrists and ankles. They were feverish and swollen to two or three times their natural size and for a long time the joints of my left hand were stiff. I was unable to do my housework and just dragged around. I was greatly run down and weighed only 111 pounds. My stomach was never strong and was often sour and filled with gas and my heart palpitated and sometimes pained me.

"At two different times I was confined to my bed for from three to four weeks and was under the doctor's care. While he helped me for a time I did not get well and the rheumatism returned as badly as ever. I also used many liniments and medicines but none of them helped me. Finally my mother insisted upon my trying Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for she had read so much about them. In a short time I felt better and took the pills regularly until I no longer felt the rheumatism. I now keep the pills on hand and take them occasionally as a tonic. I have gained in weight until I weigh 140 pounds, can eat anything I want to and can work all day without getting tired. I haven't had a return of the rheumatism, am not troubled with nervousness which was always present with the rheumatism and my heart does not bother me. I feel like an entirely different person and do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured This Case.

PARTISAN SLANDER REBUKED.

Elsewhere in this newspaper today will be found an open letter addressed to the people of Indiana by Rev. Alexander D. Sutherland, minister of the First Presbyterian church, Columbia City, Ind. To the congregational membership of this church Hon. and Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall belong. The text of Mr. Sutherland's letter touches upon a phase of the present political campaign in Indiana that must be at once painful and repugnant to all honorable and right thinking persons of whatsoever political belief or partisan associations.

Slander as foul as its method is insidious is seeking to smirch the good name of Mr. Marshall, the democratic candidate for governor. The substantial proof that the stories dealing with Mr. Marshall's name are slanders is the manner of their circulation. They are passed by sly whisperings from poisonous mouth to the open ear of those whose prejudices are well calculated to be made hostile to a man whose private life is known or suspected to be unclean. The slander is peddled to women and from woman to woman, as it passes from man to man, gathering definiteness and circumstantial character and exaggeration as it circulates, until now in some sections of the state Thomas R. Marshall is made to appear a man of great moral repulsiveness.

This newspaper knows of an instance that occurred a few days ago in this city, when a woman, who is an active and prominent member of a leading protestant congregation and held in high esteem by her church fellows and all others who know her, gossiped with bitter, indignant and scornful emphasis this most foul slander as if it were a notorious and proved fact into the ear of another woman and later was forced to admit that her own information itself was only gossip that came to her from another woman. It is by such means and through such channels that this slander has circulated. No reputable and self-respecting newspaper would befoul itself by giving it currency and no newspaper of lower order would dare to so wontonly and criminally assail the character of an upright man. Verily there is full cause for the indignant and righteous protest that is made by the holy man who ministers to the congregation of Mr. Marshall's church. Mr. Sutherland's letter should be read by all men and women.

Here in Northern Indiana, where Mr. Marshall's life is an open book read of all men, he needs no defense. Where he is not known his good repute must be the criterion of men's judgment of his character and of his fitness for the high office to which a great political party felt itself honored in the privilege to nominate him. The filthy slander is only half rebuked when denounced as the wanton lie it is. More remains to be done.

Experienced African explorer sets down a long and circumstantial prophecy that President Roosevelt will succumb to a great variety of fatal things in the interior of the dark continent. Confess here to great density of ignorance of the dank and deadly of African interiors, but at the same time willing to bet a little that Theodore Roosevelt has this same explorer pitchforked into full membership of one of the presidential clubs before Christmas comes two times.

Most of it may be summed up as: Mr. President to The Other Fellow—What? The Other Fellow to Mr. President—What to you, sir. And so on, the multiple depending on the other fellow and the executive fighting humor. In some cases of inferior provocation what Loeb can say is sufficient. It is interesting, of course, and historic. Ought to be in future compilations of messages and documents of the presidents.

Some paved streets in this city are woefully in need of immediate repair. The board of works wants the money to proceed with the work before winter sets in. The city comptroller insists and maintains there is no money to be had. When an imperative necessity meets an inexorable vacuum, what's the answer?

This nation is rapidly drifting to the point where the qualifications of its presidential candidates will not be tested by the rules of statesmanship, but by the dynamics of speech.

The brooding stillness in the Wolfert's Roost region is going far to convince many that in the interest of truth David Bennett Hill should not have repudiated that interview.

Two political cyclones cavorting at the same time probably is felt to be a distinct plenty, even in New York city.

If Tammany votes the way it cheers Mr. Taft will need all he can get between Harlem bridge and Buffalo.

SAYS HE BOUGHT JUROR FOR $10.

Defendant in Alienation of Affections Case Makes Confession.

Laporte, Ind., Oct. 27.—As a sequel to the disagreement of a jury in a suit for $5,000 damages for a curious case of alienation of affections, brought by Stephen Jaunovitsch against the relatives of his wife, an Austrian gypsy, and tried last week in the Laporte circuit court, Gustave and George Stevens, brothers of Mrs. Jaunovitsch, were arrested today for alleged jury bribing and William Bell, bartender, and William Blakeman, former city policeman, were arrested on a charge of accepting a bribe. Gustave Stevens made a written confession, stating that he had paid $10 to Blakeman, who was a juror, to prevent a verdict in favor of the plaintiff and the awarding of damages, and that he had paid $2 to Bell, who, he said, acted as messenger in the alleged bribery dealings.

RICH MAN KIDNAPED AND HELD FOR RANSOM

While Bandit Was Sending Message for Money the Victim Escaped.

Mont Vernon, Wash., Oct. 27.—While driving to Mount Vernon last night from his lumber camp about fifteen miles from here, Edward English, a wealthy lumber man of Mount Vernon, was held up and kidnapped by a lone robber about three miles from town. The robber forced English to make a note payable at a Mount Vernon bank for $5,000 and write the following letter to his wife:

"I am held up and kidnapped for $5,000 and I am threatened with having my ears cut off if the money is not forthcoming by tomorrow noon. For God's sake make all haste. Show this to Mr. Hannay and solicit this sum."

Hannay is connected with a Mount Vernon bank. The robber, within two miles of town, handed the note and the letter to a passing traveler, telling him that English had been injured in a runaway and to take the missive to Mrs. English.

Victim Makes His Escape.

This the stranger did. Meanwhile the bandit left the victim tied to a tree, evidently intending to return to him in the morning to see if the ransom was forthcoming.

English, however, managed to break loose from the ropes which bound him and made his way to the home of Henry Day, about two miles from Mount Vernon, where he telephoned his wife and Sheriff Harmon, of Stagit county.

The sheriff at once sent deputies out in hopes of securing the kidnapper.

The man is described as having one arm bandaged up. It is believed that the stranger who brought the note to Mrs. English was a confederate.

DUKE BOUND TO HAVE HIS WAY.

Turin, Oct. 27.—It is reported here that the Dowager Queen Margherita reigns immovable in her attitude of opposing the marriage of the Duke of the Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins, but that the duke has declared that he will have his own way in spite of opposition.

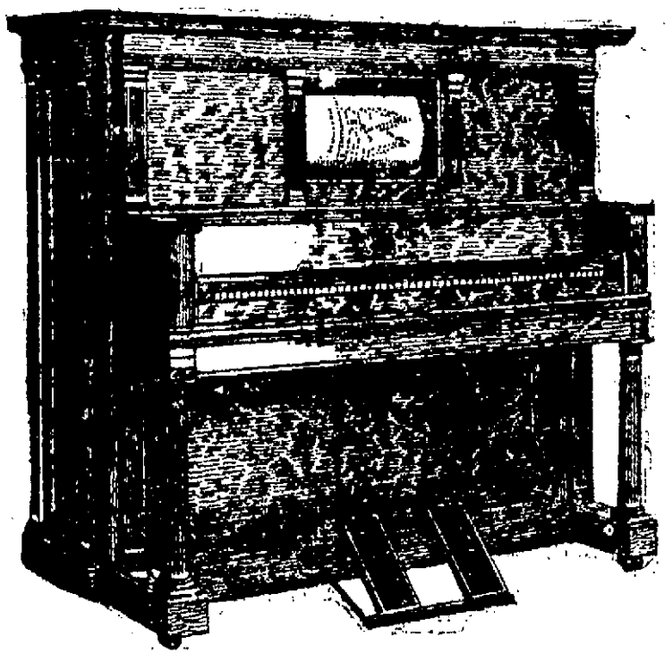
An Enviable Record



Nineteen Years of Honorable Piano Dealing in Fort Wayne and Vicinity

No trading stamps, gift prizes, guessing contests or something-for-nothing schemes have ever been employed by the Jacobs Music House. Such unhealthy methods of trade stimulations have always seemed to us beneath the dignity of a well established concern. We have been confirmed of this opinion from our constantly increasing patronage. We at present are the oldest and largest retailers in Fort Wayne, and as such have the pick of over 300 pianos made in the United States, for every manufacturer desires to be represented by the best and leading music house in the city. This gives us an immense advantage over all competitors.

Our stock consists of the following well-known makes: Mason & Hamlin, Kranich & Bach, Krakauer, Shoninger, Melville Clark, Vough, Keller, Smith & Barnes, Willard, Haddorff, Clarendon and others. These pianos represent the best values in the market, and when you buy a piano at Jacobs, the old reliable music house, you may depend on it that it is right and worth the money.

Buy a Melville Clark Apollo Piano

It is the only player-piano that plays four different size rolls—58, 65, 72 and 88 notes—every key on the piano. The piano and the player are both made in the same factory by experts, one being built for the other, and are sure to be right.

There are a number of other good features in the Apollo, patented by Melville Clark, not found in other players.

The Melville Clark Co. also cut their own music; of which we carry the largest assortment of any house in the city. We exchange rolls for our customers at ten cents a roll.

Call on us before purchasing an instrument, and if we can't convince you we give you more for your money than anyone else, you need not buy.

At present we have some fine bargains in new upright pianos from $175 up, old square pianos from $15 up, and second hand organs from $8 up.

You are welcome to visit our store and convince yourself.

MURDERER MAKES ESCAPE.

Man About to Be Sentenced Eludes Jail Guards.

Yreka, Calif., Oct. 27.—Denny Hazel, who was to have been sentenced on Thursday for the murder of Joseph Silva, last night effected his escape from the county jail, leaving E. I. Dudley, the jailer, locked in his cell.

For half an hour Dudley attempted to make known his plight and in the meantime the convicted murderer was fast making his way into the hills.

Hazel was standing behind the cell door in the darkness when Dudley led a squad of trusties into the cell. As the jailer stepped in Hazel stepped out and turned the key in the lock.

A posse of twenty men is in pursuit of the fugitive.

ST. MARY'S FALL FESTIVAL NETS A GAIN OF $1,500

The Most Successful Affair of Its Kind Ever Held at the Local Hall.

All returns being made and accounts settled, a net gain of $1,500 was realized at the three night's fall festival recently held in St. Mary's school hall under the auspices of the rector and congregation of St. Mary's church. The total amount received was about $1,800, and the festival is regarded as the most successful affair of its kind ever held in the hall.

Several of the articles that were to have been raffled off at the fair, and which had to be left over because of the scarcity of time, were awarded later by those who had charge of the festival. Miss Edith Martin received the bath-tub, Clement Lanternier the parlor decoration and Miss Antonette Oechtering the black silk skirt. At a meeting of the festival committee votes of thanks were extended St. Mary's orchestra which furnished the music free during the festival, the members of the Young Ladies' sodality and the Rosary society for the excellent manner in which they cared for the various booths, the St. Charles Borromeo society for assisting in a body at the opening of the festival and also to Charles Schnorberger, John Trentman and John Reinhart for their activities in its behalf. Those in charge of the festival were Rt. Rev. Mgr. Oechtering, Gustave Berghoff, president; Louis Schwartz, vice president; Adam A. Reinhart, secretary; Joseph Zurbuch, treasurer and Henry Kappel, director.

Addresses Railroad Men.

Rev. H. W. Stafford, pastor of the Third Church of Christ, addressed a large gathering of railroad men at the church Sunday evening on "The Gospel Train." The pastor used a parable form and spoke of the church as a Gospel train. The sermon was comprehensive in its scope and full of thought and interest. On Monday evening, Rev. Stafford began a series of special meetings to be held every evening except Saturday. These meetings will not affect the training for service class, which will be held as usual on Wednesday evening. Next Sunday evening, Rev. Stafford will be heard in a stirring sermon on "Four Arguments in Favor of the Saloon."

Hon. DeVault Addresses Men's Club.

Under the auspices of the Men's club of the West Creighton Avenue Church of Christ, Hon. Charles L. DeVault, of Columbia City, a young orator of marked ability, delivered an interesting and dramatic lecture on "The Wandering Jew" at the local church on Monday evening. He was greeted by a large and attentive audience that was highly appreciative of his work. The speaker used the ancient legend only to lead to an exposition of the tests, trials and ordeals of the Jewish people as a race. The tragic history of the Hebrew race was traced within three generations of the flood up to the present day. Intensely dramatic was his interpretation of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice," depicting Shylock as the greatest hater in literature, as was also his vivid description of the raising of the Holy City and the destruction of 1,360,000 of this valiant people. He also emphasized the fact that it remained for the youngest nation among the great nations of the world, the United States, to offer to the Jew the privilege of holding real estate. Reference was made to Roger Williams founding an asylum of protection for all people, regardless of race distinction, and thus for the first time including the Jew. Many notable Hebrews, including musicians, Mendelssohn, Rubenstein, Rossini, Verdi, Meyerbeer, Strauss, Hoffman; statesmen, Judah B. Benjamin, Disraeli, Gambetta and Castelar, were referred to by Hon. DeVault. The evening's lecture was supplemented by a number of selections by the male quartet of the church. The lecture was the first of a series that will be given under the auspices of the club the fourth Monday of every month during the winter.

Founders Talk at Mission Home.

Rev. Adam E. Whitmer, of Archbold, O., and Rev. Amstutz, of Berne, Ind., founders of the Fort Wayne Rescue Home and Mission seven years ago, were visitors in the city yesterday and both delivered addresses to a large audience at the mission in the evening. The welfare and progress of the mission together with its history formed the substance of their brief addresses. One of the features of the evening was a special musical program. Preceding the meeting Supt. George I. Cooper was the victim of a surprise that was most welcome. A wagon load of provisions, the gift of the Bethel Lutheran Sunday school of Woodburn, Ind., was delivered at the mission, the superintendent knowing nothing of the donation until its arrival. The provisions will amount to about $65 and will be given to the poor.

LABOR DECLARES ANEW ITS ALLEGIANCE TO GOMPERS

Local Federation Supports Central Body in Its Political Stand.

The Fort Wayne Federation of Labor in resolutions adopted Monday evening, with but four dissenting votes, declared anew its allegiance to and faith in President Gompers and the American Federation of Labor in its effort to secure improved conditions for the workingmen by entry into the political field this year.

The attendance was very large and the resolutions introduced by Delegate Adolph Baehr, of the Cigarmakers' union, constitute an endorsement of the democratic national ticket and platform as the one most favorable to the laboring man in this campaign.

Labor Declares Stand.

The resolutions adopted by the federation were as follows:

Whereas, The Fort Wayne Federation of Labor since its organization has faithfully endeavored to follow the principles upon which it was founded and has at all times expressed unbounded faith in the judgment of the executive officers of the American Federation of Labor, its parent body, and

Whereas, It has come to the knowledge of this body that during the heat of the discussions of the political issues of this campaign statements have been made reflecting upon the fidelity of this organization to its parent body and denying its approval of the political acts of its executive officers, and

Whereas, The Fort Wayne Federation of Labor is in no sense seeking to control the suffrages of this individual membership, at the same time insists that its official standing and position as a body should be thoroughly understood, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor reaffirms its allegiance to the principles of organized labor as set out in the tenets of the American Federation of Labor and reaffirms its faith and confidence in its executive officers and the executive council and hereby indorses the official acts of said officers and council, meaning hereby to include the council's political propaganda and program in the fullest sense and in every particular, and be it further

Resolved, That the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor desires still more emphatically to reaffirm its faith and confidence in that "Grand Old Man of Labor," Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation and endorses his views on the relation of the two great political parties toward the interests of organized labor, endorses his "elect your friends, defeat your enemies" plan and agrees with him that the Denver platform adopted by the democratic convention gives more evidence of friendship for organized labor than the republican platform adopted at Chicago does and further that we urge the support of the candidates who stand upon the said Denver platform, believing them to be the truer friends of organized labor.

Uncle—Gracious, Jimmy, I've fallen on you!

Jimmy—Oh! Is that you, uncle? I thought it was the roof!

Notice to Fat Women.

Presumably you know, ladies, that the proper caper nowadays is lines. Curves are passe. You have got to take off your fat. This must be done in one of three ways. By dieting, by exercises, or by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. The two former will keep you busy for months and punish you pretty severely, the latter will cost you 75 cents at the druggist's. The tablets will not make any alternation in your diet necessary, and yet in all probability, before you have used up one case, you will be losing from 12 to 16 ounces of fat a day. Which method do you like the best?

If you fancy this pleasant method of getting off the fat, see your druggist instantly or else write the Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich., to send you a case by mail. These cases contain so generous a quantity of tablets that the treatment is very economical. It is, also, quite harmless, for the tablets are made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription.

IN THE THEATERS

Two large audiences greeted Our Own Stock company yesterday in their present offering "At Piney Ridge." The play is a pleasing melodrama of the romantic order and takes well with the audiences. The stage setting is effective and the company costumes the play equally well with the more pretentious offerings the company has already produced.

In the leading role, Miss Dunbar has a pretty and attractive part which she plays with a sweet graciousness that pleases immensely. As for Mr. Huntington in the role of Jack Rose, there is nothing to be wished for that Mr. Huntington does not supply. There is the dash and courage of the gallant southerner but also the true spirit of chivalry and manliness. The role is just the kind that charms, and Mr. Huntington plays it realistically. Mr. Nicholson, has of course the role which never demands any sympathy from the audience, but his work wins admiration in spite of that. Altogether the play is acceptably cast and Miss Gerard as Cindy, is one of the many good features. The play will be given tonight, Wednesday and Thursday.

"Mary's Lamb," which Richard Carle brings here Friday, October 30, has been a success in three countries. Originally in Paris it was played under the title of "Madame Mongodin." In London it ran for several seasons as "Mrs. Ponderbury's Past." When Mr. Carle adapted the farce and made it into a musical comedy he rechristened it "Mary's Lamb," the hero being Leander Lamb, the hen-pecked husband of Mary Miranda Lamb, whence he is Mary's "lamb." In Americanizing the farce, Mr. Carle has added many lines and jokes of his own, as well as fourteen musical numbers, all of which he composed.

Richard Carle has a reputation for promoting chorus girls to important roles in his various musical comedies. This accounts for the unusually pretty and talented girls who are always to be found in his wake. In "Mary's Lamb" he has what is generally considered the smartest chorus that is touring America this season.

Under the direction of the Messrs. Shubert, the attraction at the Majestic Saturday matinee and night, will be Clyde Fitch's latest and most successful play, "Girls." This side-splitting comedy deals with the adventures of three young girls who have sworn a mighty oath that never, so long as they live, will they permit themselves to be dependent on man. With this resolution firmly fixed in their minds, but unfortunately not so firmly fixed in their hearts, they start out to do battle with the world. The inevitable happens, as of course it must always happen, and in the end all three man-haters succumb to the wiles of masculinity. The subject affords numerous opportunities for screamingly funny lines and situation: which the author has grasped with true Fitch style. The cast and production supplied by the Shuberts is up to their usually high standard.

FISHERMEN ARE MISSING.

Soldiers From Fort Rosecrans May Have Drowned in Pacific.

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 27.—Late last night arrangements were made at FortRosecransto send out a boat to look for four members of the Twenty-eighth coast artillery and an army mechanic from San Francisco. The five men left for the Coronada islands Sunday morning on a fishing cruise, expecting to return the same night. They have not been seen since. They carried food and water for only one day. The men are:

Corporal Reynolds and Privates Blanchard, Wykoff and Crosby and Mechanic Hughes.

There are some people who can't drink coffee. These poor unfortunates often resort to a decoction of bran and molasses—so-called cereal coffee. Why not try a delicious beverage, made from the proper kind of tea. The demonstrator in the basement of Wolf & Dessauer's store will show you the kind, and tell you how to make and serve it as a beverage.

What's the hurry? I go to personal liberty meeting tonight at Saengerbund hall. Phil Rappaport and Joseph Keller speak about "Personal Liberty and the Elections," and I don't want to miss the band concert either.

(By Mrs. Jane Ford.)

6 SIZES 32 TO 42 BUST

Fashion has decreed that for all dressy occasions gowns must be of one piece; that is, the waist and skirt must be perceptibly held together by a panel or other form of trimming that does away with any suggestion of a skirt and separate waist. The pattern for this costume is cut in six sizes, from thirty-two to forty-two inches bust measure. To copy it for the average woman requires eight yards of material thirty-six inches wide, or six and one-half yards forty-four inches in width.

The frock is closed on the left side of the front and has a five gored skirt with an inverted box pleat at the back. The sleeves may be made in either of the styles illustrated, but the tucked ones are newer and more dressy. The lower part of the tucked sleeves can be either of the net, lace or of the cloth. The collar and chemisette can be either of all over lace or net dyed to match the dress goods.

Chiffon broadcloth in any of the new shades will make up prettily in this model.

A fawn brown broadcloth copied after this pattern had a yoke and collar of tucked net of a matching shade.

The sleeves were of satin, with the upper part tucked. The trimming bands and edge of the front panel were piped with satin. On the panel and plain lower part of the sleeves was embroidered a heavily padded floral design in a color that matched. The fold on the skirt was of the cloth, piped with satin.

This gown is as simple to make as an ordinary skirt and shirt waist. The skirt and waist should be basted and tried on separately. When the fit is satisfactory they must then be adjusted at the waist line and the panel pinned in position on the waist. The belt should then be put on and the garment stitched together.

Copied in French serge, cashmere, henrietta or some rough finished material, this would make a pretty and serviceable business dress.

A Smart Sheath Skirt

WORN BY MISS COYLE OF GEO. M. COHAN AMERICAN IDEA CO.

Anything more graceful than the long, clinging lines of this costume could scarcely be conceived. The slashed skirt, over a petticoat of rare point d'Alencon, is outlined by rich embroidered strappings, and these strappings, combined with lace, form the little over blouse, beneath which are long, tucked sleeves of chiffon. The skirt itself is very scant, the train extending beyond it in a long point, which clings closely to the feet.

CLEARS THE COMPLEXION OVERNIGHT

Pimples, Rash, Eruptions, Etc., Quickly Eradicated by New Skin Remedy.

Since its discovery one year ago, poslam, the new skin remedy, has, in its extraordinary accomplishments, exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the eminent specialist who gave it to the world. It has cured thousands of cases of eczema and eradicated facial and other disfigurements of years' standing. The terrible itching attending eczema is stopped with the first application, giving proof of its curative properties at the very outset.

In less serious skin affections, such as pimples, rash, herpes, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., results show after an overnight application, only a small quantity being required to effect a cure. Those who use poslam for these minor skin troubles can now avail themselves of the special 50-cent package, recently adopted to meet such needs. Both the 50-cent package and the regular $2 jar may now be obtained in Fort Wayne at Meyer Bros. Co., and other leading drug stores.

Samples for experimental purposes may be had free of charge by writing direct to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York city. Tues.

AUBURN CUCUMBER PICKLES.

For two hundred small cucumbers allow one coffee cup salt. Rinse the cucumbers, taking care not to bruise the skins. Pack in a firkin or jar, with the salt distributed between the layers. Cover with boiling water and let stand twenty-four hours. Pour off the water and wipe dry on a soft towel. Put into your preserving kettle a scant gallon cider vinegar, a full cup sugar, two small red peppers chopped fine (excluding all seeds but two or three), one teaspoonful alum and three tablespoonfuls white mustard seed. Bring to a good scald and cover the pickles, which may be kept in glass cans or a stone jar. A horseradish or grape leaf laid over the jar will keep the vinegar from moulding. The use of a little sugar even with sour pickles is to be commended, as it gives the pickles a mellow taste and preserves the vinegar.

ASHLEY'S

APPEAL TO ALL VOTERS

Record Admitted to be of High Efficiency and Sustained Loyalty to the the People.

TO ALL VOTERS:

As the Recorder of Allen County by the favor of your votes, I have conducted the office to the best of my ability and I refer you to the patrons of the office for proof that the duties of the office were performed to their entire satisfaction.

The work has been accurately done, and the record has been kept up so that nothing was delayed beyond one day. The drawings and plats have been neatly and accurately recorded and in proof I refer you to the Abstractors, Lawyers and Real Estate men.

I have turned over to the Treasurer of Allen County, ABOVE MY SALARY AND PERCENTAGE ALLOWED BY LAW, Ten Thousand Three Hundred and Thirty-Nine Dollars, ($10,339) up to the First of September of this year.

Up to the passage of the Fee and Salary Act in 1900, all the Fees went to the Recorder.

The County Commissioners have directed me to make certain new records, by copying and comparing, because by constant use through many years had worn out some of the old records of untold value, as they contain the first deeds and patents and the first surveys by metes and bounds.

For this work I am to receive the lawful rate of ten cents per hundred words, for copying and carefully comparing the work. Beware of the Campaign stories. Many have reached me that are both untrue and absurd on their face.

I am censured for asking for a second term. Why criticise me when Judge O'Rourke is serving his sixth term of six years; when William Eggeman is serving his second four year term as Assessor and wants another; when Mr. Fleming has had one term as Senator (four years) and is asking another; when Mr. Wells has served two terms as Representative and is asking another; when Mr. Spindler is asking a third term; when Dr. Kessler is asking for a fourth election as Coroner. All these are Democrats.

The office of recorder is one of the most important in the county and a man's experience in the office is a valuable asset to the taxpayer of the county. The thing to consider is, have I taken care of the office and the interests of the county well?

If you think I have then I deserve your vote and I trust that you will give me your assistance.

Respectfully yours.

TAIL-ENDERS CLASH AND MARQUETTES WIN OUT

Week Opens Under Favorable Conditions at St. Mary's.

The tail-enders got together in St. Mary's league last night and although the scores were not high the games were all interesting as they were very close and excited a great amount of interest. All of the eight clubs will get into action this week and as every one is a bona fide member of the league with all requirements and regulations fully complied with it is expected that a big season will result.

There has been a big list of applicants for places on the new teams and the only difficulty has been to keep the membership down, showing the great tendency toward private bowling and absolute control of league affairs. A Pranger was high man for the Superbas with 173, while F. Rappel captured the honors with the Marquettes. The score:

MICHIGAN GETS DOWN TO WORK.

Yost Drills Squad in Hopes of Eliminating Weak Features.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 27.—Profiting by the mistakes that were shown in the O. S. U. game Saturday, the Michigan squad was put through another of those stiff practices which have become synonymous out here with the name of Yost. Although Yost could find no cause for complaint in the blocking abilities of his linesmen, he devoted the first hour of practice to this feature.

Ohio backs were able to intercept the forward passes of Michigan backs in Saturday's game more successfully than any of the wolverines' opponents this year, and to offset what the other teams may do Yost has renewed a lengthy rehearsal in the open style and is confident that Vanderbilt will not seize the tosses as Ohio did.

This being the first practice after the game, no scrimmage work was pulled off, but this did not influence Yost toward a lenient spirit. The smiling one is thoroughly satisfied with the defensive work displayed in the Ohio game, but there were dark looks when Michigan's offensive work was mentioned. The Ohioans who were able to pierce Michigan's line for only twenty-six yards, were frequently able to block some of the Wolverine's pet plays. This is the feature that will be followed by the coaches in the four days of work preceding the annual Vanderbilt contest.

Worked to exhaustion in rapid signal practice, the squad was hurried over to the tackling dummy when darkness made field work impossible.

We can all understand why one woman wears a red dress, and another a blue, but why under the shining sun some of them want tea painted an artificial green or brown is past all understanding. Visit the demonstration in the basement of Wolf & Dessauer's store, and drink a cup of the proper kind of tea, made and served in the proper way.

"OLD CY" A PHILANTROPIST.

Veteran Red Sox Pitcher Fits Out a Room in Union Hospital.

Canal Dover, O., Oct. 27.—It became known yesterday that "Cy" Young, veteran pitcher of the Boston American league team, is to provide and furnish an entire room in the big Union hospital, now nearing completion, between this city and New Philadelphia. The hospital officers announced that the big pitcher had authorized them to build and furnish a room and send the bill to him. The cost of this addition will be met from Young's pocket, without reference to the $1,000 gained for the hospital through the ball game, which featured the celebration of "Cy Young day" here Saturday, played as a benefit at Young's demand.

You miss the chance of your life if you don't hear Phil Rappaport and Joseph Keller, from Indianapolis, speak about "Personal Liberty and Elections" at Saengerbund hall tonight. And you want to hear the band concert too.

THREE UMPIRES ARE RIPE FOR MOVE UPWARD

Killen, Chill and McKenzie Will Probably Be Drafted.

It has been persistently circulated throughout the Central league towns that Frank Killen, John McKenzie and Ollie Chill, who officiated in the organization as umpires last season, will be drafted on account of the demand for the double system in the majors and Dr. Carson will have to hustle to fill their places by the opening of the season of 1909.

Killen, it is said, is to be promoted to the National or American while the others will be moved up to the American association. All have been working in the Central for two seasons. Frank Killen is an old National league pitcher, having been at one time Pittsburg's most reliable left hander. He stated here last summer that his arm was still good enough for the minors but that he could make more money as an umpire. He is well fixed in worldly goods and the coming of the wolf in the winter months does not bother him a bit.

On the performances here last season he is the best man of the three. He is exceedingly quiet in his demeanor, does not mingle with the players and is a man of excellent habits. He never stops to argue with the men on the field and seldom has to put a man out of the game or fine one. His control on the field was good here and he made a lot of friends.

Ollie Chill did not umpire many games in Fort Wayne last season. He and some of the Fort Wayne players had an unpleasant experience at Grand Rapids and it was thought best not to send him to this city and after this trouble he did not appear on the local lot until the closing games of the series. His work was satisfactory and he also has the players in line, but he was not as popular as Killen.

McKenzie worked here in the old Interstate and did good work then. His chief fault is allowing the players to argue with him. He stopped play several times to discuss points with the men which delayed the games and annoyed the spectators.

It is highly probable that if new men are sought Jim Connell will be given a chance. He was used during the Grand Rapids and Dayton games here when no regular man appeared and his work was highly satisfactory. He worked with Chill in one game and was boosted by him for his good decisions.

Connell has been working in the games with the Shamrocks during the past four years and is familiar with the game in general. A little careful drilling in the finer points of baseball would likely make him a competent umpire and it would not be surprising to see him get a try-out in the spring.

NOTRE DAME HELD BY SECONDS.

Varsity and Scrubs Mix in Scoreless Tie for Twenty-Five Minutes.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 27.—The varsity eleven and the second team scrimmaged here yesterday afternoon for twenty-five minutes to a scoreless tie. The showing was about even. The forward pass netted long gains on both sides during the play. The seconds took the ball to the varsity's fifteen-yard line on a pass from Hamilton to Mathews, just as time was called. Collins showed marked improvement at tackle. Mertes at center, Maloney and Mathews at end. Miller at half and Freeze at guard played well.

The first team was made up of Maloney, left end; Kelly, left tackle; Duffy, left guard; Mertes, center; Paine, right guard; Dolan and Diener, right tackle; Moriarity, right end; Dwyer, quarter; Miller, left half; Ruel, right half; Schmitt, full back.

Miller and Vaughan appeared as opposing punters. Lynch, the new varsity center, was not out, being laid up with a bad eye. It will be probably a week before he will be able to appear.

Story Corner of Base Ball Stories

Since Hughey Jennings graduated from the Cornell Law school Hughey has become one of the Chesterfields of baseballdom.

Prior to Jenning's reincarnation, and when he was a member of the lamb-like Orioles, he used language that was highly expressive if not at all ornate, and his conduct would have secured him a certificate entitling him to five pink tickets.

But now Hughey can give a French dancing master points on etiquette, while his politeness on the field is the wonder of his old-time associates.

On the cars the other day, when the Detroits were coming from Hot Springs, Ark., Hughey was explaining to Bill Coughlin, Ty Cobb, Schmidt, the catcher, and big Sam Crawford how it had paid him to be polite, and how he was so much more successful by adopting this line of conduct than he was in the days when he played with the Baltimore team.

"No, sir," declared Hughey; "no one ever loses anything by being polite."

"Oh; I dunno," drawled Crawford, who is one of those matter-of-fact fellows, "I was in a crowded street car the other day when a lady got in, and it cost me my seat by being polite.

Connie Mack, who doesn't get a heap of newspaper notoriety about being the best manager yet and a lot of more bushwa, but who nevertheless gets there just the same, is one of the quietest individuals in baseball today.

Of course there used to be a skeleton in Connie's closet, and this was nothing more or less than the celebrated Mr. Waddell, whose actions at inopportune moments caused poor Connie's hair to turn gray.

Still Rube is a great pitcher yet, and Connie was thought to be the only man who could come anywhere near holding the big fellow down before he went to St. Louis.

One day just before the season closed Rube began to grow restless, for some one around the hotel told him that the fish were biting well that day, and George Edward wanted to make a try for some members of the finny tribe.

So he went to Mack, but his heart failed him when he started to ask for that evening off, and so he thought he would gradually lead up to the subject; kind of feel out Connie, as it were.

Connie was sitting in the lobby of the hotel when found by Rube, and he was engaged in discussing the merits of a cigar.

"Nice day, Connie," broke in George Edward, with a manner meant to be gracious.

"The day's all right," drawled Mack.

"I hear," continued Waddell, as he sunk into a chair beside his manager, "that the fish are biting like everything today."

"Well," said Connie, who is a wise old owl, as he flicked the ashes from his cigar, "if you go out to the park now with Schreck and help him to try out those young recruits of ours—"

"Yes, yes!" eagerly cried Rube, who was expecting some good news from his silent manager.

"Why," said Connie, as he blew a cloud of smoke up toward the ceiling, "the fish won't have a chance to bite you."

Jerry Freeman, the big first sacker of the Washington club, is a person of epicurean tastes. It is claimed that Mr. Freeman is the terror of all the waiters and that he can make the most aristocratic hotel manager become a servile proposition in almost the twinkling of an eye, solely because Jerry makes the fact very apparent that he is familiar with all the various dishes and composite stuff that is usually ladled out to a hotel guest; and when the push about the hostelries visited by the National outfit once get on to the fact that Freeman is up to all the fine points in the dining business they at once exert every art to win Jerry over to their interests.

At the Galveston hotel, where the Washington club stayed, Freeman ruled like a czar. He had everybody on the jump, and the Washington players fared like princes.

One day a waiter by the name of Sam, who was detailed to look after the ball players' table, brought along a big soup tureen, and, of course, he asked Freeman first if he would take some of the liquid.

Freeman told him that he did not care for soup at that meal, and so the waiter served the rest of the boys. Then he came back to Freeman again, and asked him the second time if he wouldn't have some soup. This caused Jerry to flare up, and he angrily cried out:

"Look here, is this compulsory?"

"No suh," answered the humble servitor; "'tis vegetable soup, suh."

SPECIALIST

Cures Pelvic, Nervous and Chronic Diseases and guarantees satisfactory results in all cases he accepts for treatment.

Successful Treatment Depends Upon a Thorough and Scientific Examination.

I cannot perform miracles. I do not claim to do anything supernatural. Every day I am compelled to refuse to treat cases because they are incurable or are not included in my specialty. But I have proved in hundreds of cases in and about Fort Wayne that I can and do cure these CHRONIC and DEEP-SEATED DISEASES in which the ordinary methods have failed. This is because I have made a careful study of these diseases and have perfected new and scientific methods for their treatment.

VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, RUPTURE, PILES, FISTULA, ETC., cured without the knife and without detention from business.

BLOOD POISON—I use only the most advanced methods in the treatment of Blood Poison and kindred diseases.

PROSTATIC ENLARGEMENT—Results from inflammation. I reduce the enlargement and have been able to cure about 90 per cent of all cases.

ECZEMA and other skin diseases quickly and permanently cured.

FREE EXAMINATION—I charge you nothing for this examination and if I accept your case for treatment the door of HEALTH is open for you, no matter what your past experience may have been.

PORTLAND MAINE, CHILD

Ill, Weak and Emaciated, Restored to Health by Vinol.

"Our little daughter, six years of age, after a severe attack of the measles, which developed into pneumonia, was left pitifully thin, weak and emaciated. She had no appetite, and her stomach was so weak it could not retain food. She lay in this condition for weeks and nothing the doctor prescribed did a bit of good, and we were beginning to think she would never recover.

"At this time we commenced to give her Vinol, and the effect was marvelous. The doctor was amazed at her progress, and when we told him we were giving her Vinol, he replied, 'It is a fine remedy, keep it up.' We did so, and she recovered her health and strength months before the doctor thought she would." J. W. Flagg, Portland, Me.

Vinol cures conditions like this because in a natural manner it increases the appetite, tones up the digestive organs, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body.

VINOL is sold in Fort Wayne by Meyer Bros. Co., druggists. Three big stores.

MRS. DOLBY TALKS.

Tells Deacon Why She Wanted to Commit Suicide.

UNMINDFUL OF HER PRESENCE

Tried to Draw His Attention by Singing at the Top of Her Voice, but Samuel Is Wise and Keeps on Reading Patent Medicine Circular.

[Copyright, 1908, by T. C. McClure.]

It was 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and Deacon Dolby was at the barn nailing on some boards and putting up some hooks when Mrs. Dolby appeared. He knew that for the last hour the Widow Glenn had been at the house and that as a matter of course she had had some gossip to relate. He was a bit surprised at Mrs. Dolby's demeanor, however. She was shedding no tears, and she didn't look a bit excited. She had a piece of old clothesline about fifteen feet long in her hand, and she quietly asked:

SHE HAD THE ROPE AND SPIKE IN HER HAND.

"Samuel, have you got a big, stout spike in the tool box—one strong enough to hold up a person?"

He stooped over the box and picked out a sidewalk spike and handed it to her, and she continued:

"I should think this ought to do. Now, will you take this rope and make a hangman's noose in it? Perhaps the rope ought to be doubled. I don't want to bother you too much, but perhaps you will be willing to do this much for me, being it's the last time you can ever do anything."

The deacon tested the rope, and, finding it weak, he doubled it and made a common slip noose and handed it to her.

"Thank you, Samuel. I will soon be out of the way, and you won't have to bother with me. I want the spike and the rope to hang myself with. I'd ask you to come in and drive the spike, but I don't want to make you any extra trouble. I have always been careful about that. You can't go around when I am dead and say that I was always calling on you to do this and that. I shall hang myself to a beam down cellar, and by standing up in a chair I can drive the spike with an ax. I s'pose the rope will cut into my neck and hurt, but I must manage to stand it. I have had to stand most everything these last twenty years. You can go right ahead with your work, Samuel. I don't want to have it said that I put you out."

After handing her the rope and the spike the deacon had resumed his labors, and she had to raise her voice above the noise. He had also seemed to forget her presence at the barn. Mrs. Dolby went as far as the door, and there halted for a minute and then returned to say:

"Samuel, you will find bread and milk in the pantry for your supper. I'm sorry that I shan't be here to get you up something better, but a husband must make allowances once in a lifetime. This will be the first time I ever committed suicide, and of course I shan't be here to get supper. If the milk in the blue pitcher is a little sour you can skim one of the pans. Well, I guess that's all."

Tells Him Not to Worry.

She waited for him to say something, but he kept hammering away. Then she walked to the door and came slowly back to say:

"You needn't come down cellar to look for me until you have had your supper. Some wives would want you to hurry up, but you never knew me to be impatient since we were married. Just eat all you want and rinse the bowl out and then look for me. You will find me hanging by the neck. They say that some folks look terrible after hanging themselves, but I'll try to have a smile on my face.

"When you've felt of my hands and found them cold, then you can go over to Mrs. Green's and announce my death. You can pretend that you don't know why I should do such a thing, but they'll all understand that it was because I could live with a pirate no longer. Of course you don't want to kiss me before I go? I mean you don't want to shake hands?"

The deacon didn't. He was now using the saw, and he sawed and sawed and gave the sawing business his undivided attention. Mrs. Dolby waited until the saw was half through the board and then became discouraged and turned away with:

"Well, I can't linger here no longer. You go at it and get a second wife and take all the comfort you can."

This time she was away for good, but the deacon didn't stop his work to look after her or call her back. Instead of any anxiety on his part he began to whistle. It was almost 6 o'clock before he hung up his tools, swept up the sawdust and started for the house. The kitchen door was wide open, and the cat sat on the steps. He sat down for a few minutes to stroke her back and then went in and brought the milk and bread from the pantry and made his meal. While eating he was quite sure that he heard a movement on the cellar stairs, followed by a long drawn human sigh, but he paid no attention. When he had finished the meal he sat down outside again, and for an hour and more he hummed gospel hymns to himself and ate peaches from the nearest tree between the hymns. At intervals he heard noises down in the cellar. At other intervals he heard somebody creeping up the cellar stairs and softly opening the door to peak out, but he gave these things no particular attention.

Mrs. Dolby Returns.

When darkness came he lighted the lamp in the sitting room and had just seated himself to read a patent medicine circular when Mrs. Dolby entered the room. She had the rope and spike in her hand, and there was whitewash and cobwebs all over her. The deacon knew that she had entered the room, but he neither looked up nor spoke. Mrs. Dolby sat down, and it was a long minute before she asked:

"Samuel, are you surprised?"

No answer.

"I s'pose you are and disappointed, too, but it ain't my fault. I intended to hang myself, but in the first place the ax flew off the handle, and I couldn't drive the spike in. Then I got to thinking that it wouldn't be right to hang myself in the cellar with all those preserves down there. I was just going up into the garret when I happened to think that I didn't tell you about Mrs. Davison. She has my quilt frames, and she owes me three eggs, two cups of sugar and a whole nutmeg. She's the worst woman in the world to borrow and never pay back. If I was dead she might even claim that I owed her tea and coffee. That's why I didn't hang myself, Samuel—to tell you about it."

The deacon ought to have been much obliged, but nothing in his attitude showed whether he was or not. The circular was convincing him that he had at least seven new ailments, and perhaps he didn't hear.

What Mrs. Glenn Told Her.

"It was what Mrs. Glenn told me," continued Mrs. Dolby as she tried hard to get a quaver in her voice. "She said she told me because she thought it was her duty to. She said that the day you fell off the cow shed and struck the wheelbarrow and broke it to smash you lay there and used twenty-five swear words. She counted 'em. Nothing on earth would make me repeat them. If I should set out to I should expect to be struck dead before I was half through. Twenty-five swear words, Samuel, and each one of them terrible enough to knock an ox down! I ran out and helped you in and worked over you and treated you like a baby, and there you had been swearing away like a pirate! Do you wonder that I wanted to commit suicide when I heard about it?"

The deacon wondered, but not about that. He wondered how he had ever managed to live so long without the remedy mentioned in the circular. Mrs. Dolby waited sixty seconds for his reply and then said:

"But a thought has occurred to me, Samuel. It is that you lost consciousness when you fell and that all your swearing was done when you were out of your head. Therefore you ain't to blame for it, and I'm going to forgive you and not commit suicide until next time."

The deacon never heard her. He cracked his toes and continued reading, and even when she went into the kitchen and began preparing things for breakfast and singing at the top of her voice he was oblivious to the surroundings. M. QUAD.

Test of a New Fire-Fighting Sy stem is a Success in New York

JOHN J. MESKILL CHIEF ENGINEER, PHILADELPHIA FIRE DEPARTMENT WHO INVENTED A NEW HOSE STAND

New York, Oct. 27.—Representatives of nearly every branch of the city government, besides several thousand interested citizens, witnessed an official test of the new high pressure fire service system, which, experts declare, will eventually do away entirely with the use of fire engines in this city.

Mayor McClellan, Chief Croker, of the fire department, and the experts and engineers who have supervised the installation of the system, said everything worked satisfactorily and that the test had demonstrated its superiority over the old method of fighting big fires.

James Horan, chief of the Chicago fire department; John Ryan, chief of the Boston department, and representatives from the departments of St. Louis, Philadelphia and Norfolk were present and expressed themselves as thoroughly satisfied with the great advantage of the system in all cities where an ample supply of water can be obtained.

The test was made in West street, where six blocks were cleared between West and Bank streets, two hundred policemen being on hand to keep the crowds at a safe distance from the big streams. Chief Croker, with a squad of battalion chiefs and a small army of firemen, was in charge of the handling of the hose, while I. M. de Varona, chief engineer of the department of water supply, gas and electricity, directed the operations of the big pumps.

Two tests were given in order to demonstrate the force of the pressure under any circumstances likely to be encountered in a big fire. In the first test thirty-two hose lines were used, these being attached to eight hydrants, six of the ten pumps being brought into service. First the ordinary pressure of the Croton water system was put on. With this pressure the water flowed easily through the nozzles, reaching a height of twenty-five to thirty feet. The big pumps were turned on one by one, and when the pressure of all was driven into the hydrants the discharge was 28,000 gallons a minute, or at the rate of 33,000,000 gallons in twenty-four hours.

The smallest newspaper in the world, according to the publisher's statement, appeared a few days ago on the lower east side of New York. It is of the size of a postal card, with one half on the address side devoted to advertisements, and the "paper" proper printed in small type in Yiddish, under the title the Jester. The name denotes its character, and it contains principally humorous paragraphs with local, national and international points.

BLUE WOMEN

Women should understand that melancholia, commonly called "the blues," is in nine times out of ten a sure symptom of some serious female organic derangement and should have immediate attention.

Women whose spirits are depressed, and who are ailing and miserable, should rely upon as is evidenced by following letters.

Mrs. F. Ellsworth, of Mayville, N. Y., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For three years I was in an awful despondent and nervous condition caused by female troubles. I was not contented anywhere, and was in such constant fear that something terrible was going to happen that it seemed as though I should lose my mind. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored my health, and I cannot say enough for it."

Mrs. Mary J. Williams, of Bridgeport, Ill., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I have been suffering from a female trouble, backache and headaches, and was so blue that I was simply in despair. I feel it my duty as well as my pleasure to tell you that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me. The change in my appearance is wonderful, and I wish every suffering woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache. Why don't you try it?

ARCHBOLD DEFENDS THE LETTERS READ BY HEARST

Takes Shot at the Editor, Who Talks Back—Judge Elkins Explains.

New York, Oct. 27.—John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil company, made the following statement yesterday afternoon regarding the letters read by W. R. Hearst at the Carnegie hall meeting Saturday night:

"I am very sure that until Hearst read the letters neither Judge Morrison nor Judge Henderson had any knowledge of my having written Governor Stone in their behalf. Judge Henderson was not appointed by Governor Stone to the supreme court, but was three years later appointed by Governor Pennypacker to a superior court judgeship.

"If, however, any feeble word of mine could have influenced in the slightest degree the selection of these gentlemen for their respective positions I would be very proud of it. Their state has had no better servants than they, and I certainly have never asked of them any favor of any kind, either for myself or for the company with which I am connected.

"My letters to Gen. Elkin, referring to accompanying drafts, related entirely to contributions to the republican state committee, then engaged in the campaign preliminary to the renomination of Mr. McKinley, a subject regarding which I think Hearst would be a little sensitive, for was it not the election and the tragic death of Mr. McKinley that came near costing Hearst his precious neck?

"The statement regarding Judge Haight is in connection with an old libel that has been explained and exploded so many times that it would be a simple weariness to the public to go over it again.

"The intimation by Hearst that he has had any communication from me or any of my associates in connection with the stolen letters is a lie.

"The only favor which I would ask, or hope ever to ask, of Hearst, is that he return me the letters handed him by his larcenous 'gentleman friend,' which were written from Japan relating to the fatal illness of my daughter in that country."

Hearst Makes Rejoinder.

Late last night Wm. R. Hearst issued a reply to Mr. Archbold's statement in which he says:

"The Standard Oil company pays its honest debts by check and when it has recourse to a certificate deposit it is because there is a dishonest debt to be paid."

Mr. Hearst continues:

"Mr. Archbold says now that he sent his secret certificates of deposit to Mr. Elkin as campaign contributions, but that with the very letters enclosing the fifteen thousand dollars of secretary certificates sent to Mr. Elkin was a letter asking him to kill an amendment to a bill with no other explanation than 'for reasons which seem patent to us.'"

Mr. Hearst then challenges Mr. Archbold in these words:

"Either deny your letters or admit your letters. If you deny them I will produce fac similes. If you admit them you are convicted by your own written words."

Mr. Hearst refers to that "McKinley falsehood" and then says:

"You did contribute to Mr. McKinley's campaign, but you did not contribute through Mr. Elkin. You contributed through Mr. Hanna and I have the letters to prove that."

In conclusion Mr. Hearst says:

"Mr. Archbold finally takes refuge in the usual defense of the caught and cornered coward. He hides behind the skirts of the innocent women of his family.

"I have not mentioned Mr. Archbold's daughter and never would have thought of dragging her name into this controversy. Why should Mr. Archbold do this despicable thing? I have no letters from his daughter."

JUSTICE ELKIN REPLIES.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 27.—Justice Elkin, of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, who up to this time has made only a general denial of improper relations with John D. Archbold and the Standard Oil company as inferentially charged by Editor William R. Hearst through the reading of a number of letters to Mr. Elkin at a political meeting in New York last Saturday night, presented a detailed statement to the Associated Press last night explaining the letters and the matters to which they referred. Justice Elkin said that he had not been able earlier to consult his files and secure the data necessary to make a detailed explanation.

Justice Elkin's statement follows:

"The evident intention of the publication of the four letters read by Mr. Hearst, in which my name appeared, is to support an inference that the money was sent me to improperly influence legislation or for some other unworthy purpose. The first is a letter of introduction to Mr. Twombley, dated Sept. 25, 1899. About that time the New York Central through its Beech Creek connections contemplated making extensions into my home county where with some friends I was interested in undeveloped coal lands. We were anxious to get some definite information on the subject and it was suggested to me that I take up the subject with some official of the railroad system. I did not personally know any person connected with the company and asked Mr. Archbold, whom I had known since he was a struggling young man in western Pennsylvania, to give me a letter of introduction, which was done. As that turned out afterwards, I did not use the letter for the reason that the desired information was secured from other sources. I do not know Mr. Twombley personally and never met him.

"The next two letters are dated February 5, 1900, and March 15, 1900, respectively, and from these letters the inference is attempted to be drawn that the money mentioned therein was intended to secure the defeat of certain legislation which was deemed objectionable. The legislature was not in session that year, there were no bills pending and the inference is manifestly unfounded. The preceding session of the legislature had expired nine months before these letters were written, the members of the succeeding legislature had not even been nominated, and those subsequently nominated were not elected until the following November, eight months afterwards. While the drafts mentioned were forwarded to me they were not intended for my use. They were contributions for political purposes and were by me immediately turned into the campaign fund.

Used to Pay Debts.

"The money was principally used in helping to liquidate the indebtedness of the state committee, incurred in prior campaigns. My sole connection with this matter was to turn the drafts over for the purpose intended. Not a penny of this money was expended for the benefit or the advantage of myself. Beginning with the fall of 1895 for a period of five years I was actively engaged in the management of political affairs either as state chairman or member of the executive committee. Contributions for campaign purposes were generally addressed to me, but I immediately turned them over to the treasurer of the campaign fund. In the early months of 1900, there being no legislature in session and no official duties to be performed, I was at home in the practice of my profession and was not engaged in political matters

"As to the letter of May 9, 1901 upon which reliance is placed to connect all these matters with the suggestion of the improper use of money in influencing legislation, it must not be overlooked that this letter was written eighteen months after the Twombley letter and one year and three months after the other letters which could have had no reference to any legislative matter at that time. It was supposed to have been written just before the adjournment of the legislature of 1901 and made inquiry about some pending legislation. This letter as published does not mention the bill referred to nor the proposed legislation objected to. It was a letter of inquiry only which I assume was received by me, although I do not recall the incident. As attorney I received hundreds of letters from people throughout the commonwealth asking for information and advice about pending legislation and other political matters. These were not confined to any particular class or party. Indeed, farmers, business men, mechanics and laborers wrote me more frequently than persons connected with corporations and other large interests. In every case I considered it my duty to reply and give such information as I had on the subject of which inquiry was made. And this is all I could have done in answer to the letter of Mr. Archbold. He did not ask me to defeat any legislation nor did I make any attempt to do so."

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry-bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, hang-on, chronic coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

"Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood curing blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings and old sores, or ulcers.

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the native medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

DIAPEPSIN PROMPTLY DIGESTS EVERYTHING EATEN

Whatever You Eat Will Be Digested Leaving Nothing to Ferment.

Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take Diapepsin after your meal. This powerful digestive and antacid, though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

Eat what your stomach craves, without the slightest fear of indigestion or that you will be bothered with sour risings, Belching Gas on Stomach, Heartburn, Headaches from stomach, Nausea, Bad Breath, Water Brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, or other disagreeable miseries.

If you will get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin you could always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there would be no Indigestion or Sleepless nights or Headache or Stomach misery all the next day; and, besides, you would not need laxatives or liver pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh.

Pape's Diapepsin can be obtained from your druggist, and contains more than enough triangules to thoroughly cure the worst dyspeptic. There is nothing better for Gas on the Stomach or sour odors from the stomach or to cure a Stomach Headache.

You couldn't keep a handier or more useful article in the house.

ARRANGING CORN FESTIVAL.

Members of the Farmers' Institute of Allen county are doing all they can at present in preparation for the corn festival which is to be given in this city some time during next February. The affair will be on a large scale and it is hoped to get practically all the farmers of the county interested in it.

SEAS BUFFET OCEAN QUEEN.

Queenstown, Oct. 27.—The steamship Mauretania was unable to land her passengers and most of her mails here last night on account of the heavy sea that was running. The gangway broke and damaged a large tender, which was obliged to put off from alongside the ship. The Mauretania lowered a whaleboat which took off the port officials who had boarded the ship and returned with eighteen of the ship's crew. Loss of life was narrowly averted.

FOAM NOT BEER, SAYS COURT.

Illinois Supreme Tribunal Rules Against Saloonkeeper.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 27.—The supreme court holds that foam is not beer and cannot be measured as such.

This point was made in a decision yesterday in a case from Mercer county, involving the wholesaling law prohibiting the sale of liquor in quantities under five gallons. Ola Nylin, proprietor of a roadhouse, was heavily fined for selling beer in so-called five-gallon cases. He gave tickets calling for the number of bottles, permitting customers to take a bottle or two at a time, punching the number on the tickets accordingly. This the court declared was a violation of the law and sustained the lower court, which assessed heavy fines.

In pleading the case, the contents of bottles of a case of beer were poured out and it was shown there were but four and one-half gallons in the case. Nylin insisted the foam should be measured to make the five gallons, but the supreme court decided to the contrary.

A JEWELER'S EXPERIENCE.

C. R. Kluger, The Jeweler, 1006 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can now attend to business every day, and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed." DINING CAR CONDUCTER FATALLY HURT AT SOUTH DEPOT

E. B. Mills, Who Was Pinched by Cars, Dies an Hour Later.

Eugene B. Mills, of 6167 Etsall avenue, St. Louis, Mo., a dining car conductor in the employ of the Wabash, was so badly injured in front of the Pennsylvania depot at 5 o'clock this morning that he died an hour later. Mr. Mills came into the city on the dining car attached to eastbound Wabash Continental Limited, No. 4, last evening, which was cut out here to be sent west on No. 9 this morning. He spent the night at the Pennsylvania Lines hotel, leaving orders to be called at 4:30 this morning. He arose at that hour and soon afterwards left the hotel for the Wabash yards, where his dining car was standing during the night, and instead of going west a few rods to the crossing, he cut across the tracks and got behind Pennsylvania passenger train No. 6, just as the engine backed against the front of the string of cars. The impact sent the train backwards a few feet and Mr. Mills was pinched between the buffers of a Pullman car and a day coach, which switch engine 7115 had hooked onto and was about to pull away. The accident was witnessed by Pennsylvania Patrolman C. A. Easton, City Patrolman J. Degitz and Car Inspector A. Lauer, who rushed to the wounded man and carried him to the baggage room and thence sent him to St. Joseph hospital. He was conscious for several minutes after receiving the injuries, but the only words spoken was a request that the men rub his chest over his heart, where he said the chief pain was. He died twenty minutes after arriving at the hospital. The remains were turned over to Undertaker J. C. Peltier, taken to his undertaking parlors and prepared for burial and will be shipped to St. Louis this evening.

There were no external marks on the body of Mr. Mills, his injuries being internal, followed by severe hemorrhages, which caused his death. The remains were view by Coroner A. J. Kesler at the Peltier morgue this morning and he also visited the scene of the accident and investigated the cause. His verdict will, therefore, be in accordance with the foregoing statement.

Before Mr. Mills became unconscious he gave the address of his mother, Mrs. E. R. Mills, 6167 Etsall avenue, St. Louis, and requested that she be informed of the accident. A telegram was sent to her, but at 2 o'clock no reply had been received, the messenger being unable to find Mrs. Mills, who had left home for the day. Mr. Mills was about twenty-nine years old and it is presumed that he was unmarried. He had just been assigned to a run over this division of the Wabash and was out on his first trip "learning the road."

ED FREDRICK RESIGNS.

Edwin Fredrick, for the past two or three years clerk for Foreman Joseph Slater at the Bass blacksmith shop, will retire from that position next Saturday. He will soon afterwards leave for the west and may decide to remain there. Mr. Fredrick was employed by Mr. Bass at the Brookside farm before being transferred to the shops. He will be succeeded by Will H. Strawbridge, of 1019 East Wayne street, a young man who has just completed a course at the Business college and who is well equipped for that kind of work. Mr. Strawbridge is now familiarizing himself with affairs at the blacksmith shop.

PRESIDENT DELANO WAS HERE.

Came With Other Officials to Look Over Wabash Property.

President F. A. Delano, of the Wabash, and a number of the higher officials spent an hour in the city this morning. They are making a trip over the system for the purpose of meeting shippers and discussing with them matters of mutual interest and to examine the physical property of the company. After a conference with the city officials on the track elevation proposition, President Delano visited the shops a half hour and then with his party left for the west. They will cover the eastern division today, remaining over night in Danville, and tomorrow will go over the Springfield division. In the party were: F. A. Delano, president; E. B. Prior, vice president; Henry Miller, vice president and general manager; George G. Yeoman, assistant to the president; S. E. Cotter, general superintendent; A. O. Cunningham, chief engineer; E. F. Needham, superintendent of motive power; C. A. How, purchasing agent; W. C. Maxwell, general traffic manager; C. H. Stinson, general freight agent; H. E. Watts, W. H. Wylie and E. R. Newman, assistant general freight agents; W. A. Sprott, division freight agent; J. D. McNamara, general passenger agent; P. E. Dunbaugh, passenger and ticket agent at Toledo; Col. R. G. Thompson, district passenger agent at Indianapolis; J. C. Sullivan, division superintendent; George W. Smith, master mechanic; J. T. Sheahan and Edward Shelah, engineers of maintenance of way; C. E. Wells train master; I. H. Shorey, division storekeeper, and A. S. Mead, road foreman of engines. Freight Agent A. L. Gilbert met the officials here and accompanied them through the freight house, yards and shops. The special train carrying the visitors was made up of the special cars of President Delano, General Manager Miller and General Superintendent Cotter. It left the city at 10:45 o'clock.

HERE TO BEGIN WORK.

Chief Electrician of Wabash Will Electrify the Shops.

W. A. Hopkins, of St. Louis, chief electrician of the Wabash, is here to commence the work of putting in a number of electric motors in the company's shops and when he completes the job the machinery at that shop will be operated by electricity instead of steam. The company recently electrified the Moberly shops and the Fort Wayne shops will be supplied in a similar manner, with the exception of the retention of steam for operating the air compressor and for heating purposes.

NEED MEN BADLY.

Carpenters, Car Repairers and Laborers Wanted at Shops.

The car department of the Pennsylvania shops is short on help at present and fifty or more can find good positions there. Carpenters and car repairmen are wanted at the east car shops and laborers are needed in the lumber yards. For several weeks men have been needed at these shops and some have found employment there, but the applications of men equipped for that kind of work have not been any ways near up to the demand.

SLIGHT BLAZE AT BASS SHOPS.

The upper portion of cupola No. 4, at the soft iron room of the Bass foundry, was damaged last evening by fire which broke out soon after the works were closed for the night. The machinery was not badly damaged, but the wooden uprights in the elevator shaft were partly destroyed and will have to be replaced by new. Fortunately there is another cupola in that part of the shop which has not been in use and the men were shifted to it without loss of time.

INJURED MEN BETTER.

P. F. Hamburger, who sustained internal injuries, and Christian Krueckeberg, who had a collar bone broken when a scaffold gave way at the new building at Bowser's last week, will recover, despite the severity of their injuries. The four other men who sustained less serious injuries will soon be able to return to work.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Ellis Peterson, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, has gone to Ray to visit relatives.

W. R. Devlin and A. Fetzer have taken positions at the Pennsylvania boiler shop.

Theodore Mailand, W. Elx and E. Parker have taken employment at the Kerr Murray works.

Boilermaker J. Mark, of the Pennsylvania, is off duty on account of the illness of his wife.

G. W. Richhart, of the Pennsylvania boiler shop, has returned from a visit with friends in Chicago.

Harley F. Smith has taken a position in the flue department of the Pennsylvania shops.

Machinist A. M. Tower, of the Pennsylvania, is taking a lay off to look after some private business.

H. E. Frank, a clerk for G. R. & I. Commercial Agent E. O. Wagner, reported for duty this morning after a ten days' vacation.

Mrs. Harding, of Forest, O., left yesterday after a two weeks' visit with her father, Ernest Lentz, of the Pennsylvania planing mills.

Arthur T. Saam, assistant ticket receiver of the Pennsylvania, was the guest of his parents at Van Wert over Sunday. He returned to resume his work last night.

Charles Vaughn, a carpenter in the Pennsylvania tank shop, has just moved into a new house erected for him on Short street. He formerly resided on Cass street.

August Pequignot has returned to his duties in the Bowser works after an absence of two months. He was operated upon for appendicitis and came very near death's door.

Mrs. M. Huntine, wife of the Wabash waterworks man, is in Kansas City, where she went in company with her sister, who is en route to her home in California, last Sunday.

Foreman Charles Brenner, of one of the departments at the Electric works, has gone to Illinois to set up some electric machinery that was built at the works in this city.

John Kaiser and E. J. Kelker, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty. L. B. Hider, of the tank shop, had a hand sprained by a fall yesterday and will be off duty a few days.

G. N. Dailey and W. F. Spandler, Pennsylvania linemen, went to Middlepoint today to see that the temporary lighting plant installed there for the official inspecting party works all right tonight.

Master Mechanic B. Fitzpatrick, of the Pennsylvania, has returned from Washington, D. C., where he was called to attend the funeral of his brother, Frank Fitzpatrick, formerly of this city.

J. B. Hyatt, storekeeper of the C., A. & C., with headquarters at Mt. Vernon, O., has returned to that city. He had been serving as an inspector in the work of taking an invoice of the stock at the Pennsylvania shops in this city.

In addition to those mentioned yesterday the following left today for Bellevue to attend the funeral of William H. Wills, which took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon: Mr. and Mrs. Peter Collins, Mr. and Mrs. George Cox, Mrs. A. L. Haddox and Mrs. Welker.

D. B. Stann, a clerk in the maintenance of way office of the G. R. & I., resumed that duty yesterday after a ten days' absence. During his vacation Mr. Stann was married to a charming young lady in the east and he brought his bride to this city to reside.

Boilermaker James Parsell, who went to Colorado a month or two ago and took employment at his trade, has returned here to resume his old position at the Bass works. The climatic conditions in Colorado were not congenial, he said, and hence his return.

The work of erecting a large steel oil tank at the west end of the Nickel Plate yards for the Standard Oil company is well under way and will be finished before cold weather sets in. The Bass company has the contract and Robert Shellhammer has charge of the erection work.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McKeel, of Grand Rapids, were the guests over Sunday of Mrs. Jennie Bricker, of 1911 Oliver street. They had been in Washington, D. C., where Mr. McKeel attended the convention of the Railway Bridge and Building Superintendents' association. Mr. McKeel is master mechanic of the G. R. & I.

GIVEN LAND OFFICE POSITION.

W. N. McFarland, son of V. C. McFarland, of this city, and a member of the senior class at the Capitol university at Columbus, O., has been tendered a position in the land office at Olympia, Wash., and is endeavoring to complete his studies at the university as quickly as possible. He will probably take up his duties in the west at the beginning of the year.

Sleep

Sleep is nature's rebuilding period, when the energy used by the brain, muscles and organs is renewed. If you lose sleep, your system is robbed of the strength sleep should give. Continued loss of sleep multiplies this loss until you become a physical wreck. Dr. Miles' Nervine quiets the irritated nerves and brings refreshing, invigorating sleep. Nervine contains no opiates, and therefor leaves no bad after-effects.

"For over two years I suffered untold agonies; my friends thought I was going crazy. I could not sleep nor rest at all. I tried different doctors, but failed to find relief. My head would ache all the time; I was like one drunk; could not concentrate my mind, and was so restless and worried that sleep was out of the question. After taking one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine I felt wonderfully changed. I am now on my third bottle and am gaining all the time. I can lie down and sleep like a child, and am able to do my work."

BEVERIDGE IS GIVEN AN OVATION IN FORT WAYNE

Addresses Immense Crowds at Rink and Overflow Gathering.

Fort Wayne gave a tremendous ovation to Senator Albert J. Beveridge, who came to town Monday evening to preach the cause of republicanism. He addressed the largest audience that has gathered in Princess rink this year and spoke again at an overflow meeting at the court house. Altogether the demonstration for Mr. Beveridge entirely eclipsed the enthusiasm for Mr. Taft on Saturday.

The occasion was notable upon other accounts, also, for with the Indiana senator were John T. McCutcheon, George Ade and Samuel G. Blythe, all of them conspicuous lights in the literary world. They occupied seats upon the stage at Princess rink during Mr. Beveridge's address. George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, and David Graham Phillips, Indiana novelist, were also to have been members of the Beveridge party in its tour of Indiana, but they failed him at the last moment.

Welcome Was Warm.

Senator Beveridge's special train reached the city at 7:30 o'clock over the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad from the north, and a mounted local escort met the party at the Pennsylvania station and accompanied the visitors to the Wayne hotel.

The parade of republican marching clubs followed, the route illuminated by red fire, and Mr. Beveridge's popularity was attested by cheering at many points. Meanwhile an audience that packed Princess ring to suffocation forced itself inside the doors of the big auditorium. Many men who had cast their votes for Lincoln occupied front seats and there was an attempt to reserve a section of seats for the marchers, but it was a failure. The crowd broke through the ropes and appropriated the seats. Extra chairs had been added to the regular seating capacity of the rink, and every available inch of space was occupied, but it was wholly inadequate, and outside were other thousands entirely unable to gain entrance to the building. None of the marchers got inside the building at all, and the line simply reversed order and returned to the court house to await the overflow meeting.

Senator Beveridge was plainly gratified with the ovation which greeted him as he appeared upon the stage. The Tenth ward glee club had rendered a number of campaign songs to entertain the waiting crowd, and Col. A. T. Lukens was compelled to sing "Old Shady" once more. Judge Walter Olds, chairman of the evening, introduced Senator Beveridge at 9 o'clock, and he was compelled to cut his introductory remarks short because the crowd, which had been waiting long, was impatient to hear the star of the evening.

Senator Beveridge Speaks.

Senator Beveridge in opening his address paid a tribute to the Lincoln voters who sat directly in front of him. He referred to the fact that even in the darkest days of the civil war nothing could shake the faith of the people in Lincoln, and said that today nothing has shaken the public confidence in Roosevelt, whom he characterized as the greatest president since Washington and Lincoln. He followed with a characteristic republican address in which republican measures and men were eulogized. The topics upon which Mr. Beveridge dwelt at some length were the tariff and injunctions.

He referred to Mr. Bryan's claim that he ought to be elected to succeed Roosevelt because he is next of kin, "but," said Senator Beveridge, "Roosevelt repudiates the kinship." He asserted that Mr. Bryan, having had no experience in any department of governmental administration, should not be entrusted with the presidential office, and pointed out that Mr. Taft has had experience in all of them. He declared the republican nominee the best-equipped man for the presidency ever offered to the American people.

Mr. Bryan's Personality.

"I know Mr. Bryan well," continued Mr. Beveridge, "and I like him. He is a good man, but not wise. He is upright, but not steady; brave, but nout prudent, and it takes all of these to make a chief magistrate for the greatest people upon whose heads the sun ever shone. Mr. Bryan is, I think, the best speaker in America today, but I want to call your attention to the fact that you can't eat Bryan's speeches. You have got to have something more substantial than talk before you get the votes of the American people."

He discussed the reasons for the change demanded by many people, and said that while the republican party has unhorsed the reactionaries in its own ranks, in the democracy these men are yet in control. He declared that Mr. Bryan had but few friends in the senate, and asserted that if he were elected his policies would be opposed by a majority of the democratic senators. He declared that the men who are supporting Mr. Bryan most conspicuously today are the men who have violently opposed him in the past—Olney, Parker, Murphy, Roger Sullivan—and said that this was due not to their love for Mr. Bryan or his policies, but to their hatred for Roosevelt.

Some Republican Laws.

Senator Beveridge declared that practically all the remedial legislation in the country had been passed by the republicans. He admitted that the recent currency legislation was but a temporary expedient and that he himself refused to vote for it until it was agreed that it should be superseded by a new system after that should be thoroughly evolved.

He denied that Mr. Bryan proposed anything better as a substitute for republican measures and then passed to the tariff question. He asserted that republicans do not now insist upon a straight-out protective tariff; that it was out of date. What is now proposed is a double tariff, as low as can be given with the protection idea intact for countries which will reciprocate, and as high as you want to put it for countries which will not admit American products upon an equitable basis.

On Injunction Issue.

On the injunction question Senator Beveridge declared that "the republicans propose to pass a law ending all possible abuses of the writ of injunction. That there has been abuse of the injunction no one will question. Every man in this republic is entitled to his day in court. This is a principle of law-made liberty and liberty-made law. The man who would destroy the injunction is forgetful of the experience that created it. I want you workingmen to remember that many more injunctions have been issued against capital than against labor. Bryan's plan is an invitation to lawlessness in this country, not so much from labor as from capital. I do not fear labor, for I've noticed that in every extremity when the flag needs upholding, the laboring men are there to do it, but from the bottom of my heart I fear the grasping wealth that is impatient of the people's law. We are for labor when it is right, and only then. We are for capital when it is right—but only for justice."

Senator Beveridge closed with a comparison of the candidates. He declared that Bryan and Taft were equally pure, upright, good, patriotic and devoted to the people, but that Bryan is inexperienced while Taft is the ablest administrator this country has ever produced, and that by every qualification of fitness and training he should be elected. The speaker then spoke in commendation of W. C. Geake, Judge Vesey, Congressman Gilhams and James E. Watson.

Talked at Overflow.

There was a large audience at the overflow meeting in the court house. A. C. Rankin and Will E. English were the earlier speakers, and Mr. Beveridge spoke for ten minutes here at the close of his Princess rink address.

The Beveridge train left at 7 o'clock this morning for Decatur, Bluffton, Huntington and other Indiana points.

TICKETS STOLEN; THEATER DARK.

Pittsburg Schoolboys Arrested and Charged With Theft.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 27.—Over 1,000 tickets have been stolen from the Annex Family theater on Fifth avenue here, and the house was compelled to close its doors until the police can locate the source of tickets which have been sold on the outside.

Three boys, each of good family, already have been arrested charged with aiding in the theft. The police say they will arrest more boys today. Harry Cohen, aged 13; Harry Gardner, aged 14; and Harry Myers, aged 15; are already under bonds.

The arrests of Gardner and Myers yesterday almost caused a panic in the Forbes school, where the lads are members of the high school classes and were in the midst of examination.

One theatrical manager declared last night that more than $200 per day was being lost now by theaters in Pittsburg through stolen tickets.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 27.—Shorts and commission houses were active bidders for wheat today at the beginning of business on the local exchange and as a result initial quotations showed gains of ⅝@½c to ⅞@1c compared with the previous closing. The demand was due to a marked falling off in the price of wheat at Liverpool, due chiefly, it was said, to fresh reports of damage to the Argentine crop. Offerings were light during the early part of the day and the advance was well maintained. December opened at 99⅝@1.00⅝ and for a time held within that range at almost the top figure. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 604 cars.

Demand continued active nearly all day and the market was strong throughout the entire session, prices holding about 1c over yesterday's closing figures. The high point for December was reached at $1.00⅞@1.00⅝. The close was strong at almost the top with December up 1@1⅛c at $1.00¾.

Trade in the corn pit was rather quiet and the market was firm. Wet weather and the strength of wheat was the principal influences. December opened ¼@⅜c hibher at 63⅝@63⅝c and sold at 63¾@63⅞c. Local receipts were 139 cars.

A firm tone prevailed the remainder of the day, talk of the poor condition of the new crop helping to strengthen the market. The top for December was 63⅞c. The close was firm with December up ⅛@⅜c at 63¾@63⅞c.

Oats were firm, because of an advance in wheat, but the volume of trade was small. Prices at the start were unchanged to ⅛@¼c higher with December at 47¾c. Later December touched 47⅝@47⅞c.

Provisions opened steady on small receipts of live hogs, but weakened as a result of moderate profit taking. At the start prices were unchanged to 5c higher.

The Close.

Prices at the close were as follows:

Wheat—December, $1.00¼; May, $1.03¾@1.03⅝; July, 98¾c.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Oct. 27.—Quite uniform advances of a small fraction were shown by the opening prices of stocks today and the dealings were in only moderate volume, Union Pacific, Reading and American Smelting ran up large fractions within the first few minutes of the trading.

The movement in prices led to a more general demand, which embraced all of the active issues, and a number of minor stocks. Advances reached a point in some cases, but the substantial gains were mostly confined to the usual leaders, St. Paul, Northern Pacific, Rock Island preferred, American Smelting, Utah Copper, and Sloss-Sheffield Steel advanced 1 point, Union Pacific 1¼, Reading 1⅜, Pacific Coast 2 and New York Air Brake 2½.

The tone showed some hesitation around the high prices reflected in declines rather than reaction. The market held near the top. Northwestern and Baltimore & Ohio preferred gained 1, and Virginia Iron 4 points. American Woolen declined 1. Bonds were firm.

Union Pacific's firmness was a feature. The stock touched 171⅝ but there was scarcely any interest shown in the rest of the list.

Slight declines resulted from the cessation of buying but the losses were made up subsequently. The vibration was very slight. Minneapolis & St. Louis and American car preferred improved 1, Great Northern Ore Certificates 1¼, American Smelting 1½, and Lackawanna 7 points. Consolidated Gas sagged 1.

The market closed easy. The trading was extremely apathetic, but prices were firmly held until just at the last. Sloss-Sheffield Steel rose 4½ points, the preferred 2¾, Denver & Rio Grande preferred 2, Republic Steel preferred 1¾ and Kansas City Southern 1. Northern Pacific yielded a point from the best.

THE MONEY MARKET.

New York, Oct. 27.—Money on call, steady, at 1¼@1½%; ruling rate, 1½%; closing bid, 1¼%; offered at 1½%.

LOCAL MARKET EPITOME.

As an illustration of the fact that the farmers do not believe that the chicken market will take on any stronger tone within the next few weeks, there were several large loads of them brought in today. They sold at 8c and 10c per pound and the demand for them was not very strenuous. The potato market is steady at 60c and 65c per bushel. A good quality of apples was eagerly sought for and brought 75c and $1.00 per bushel. There was not much good butter on the market, but there was a good demand for it and it sold for 24c per pound. The egg market is steady at 22c per dozen.

The retail market was the smallest of the season today, possibly owing to the brisk weather.

Said G. H. Crouse, of the commission house of Howenstein & Crouse this morning: "We ought to have a bigger market considering that we have favorable weather. The weather from now on is to be one of the biggest factors in the size of the wholesale markets. The demands will remain about the same, with potatoes, apples and good butter the most sought-for articles. The chicken market will again be easy."

Helps Most.

"You know a man is a true friend if he will lend you money."

"I don't know. Often it turns out that the man who refuses is the best friend after all."—Kansas City Times.

Second Thoughts.

Harry, when you proposed to me last night
In that blunt, clumsy way of yours, although
It was not unexpected, I took fright
And answered "No."

The wedding ring has terrors for me, Harry,
Its apparition set me in a whirl;
But, all the same, I don't want you to marry
Some other girl.

The very thought torments me. Though prepared—
Nay, satisfied—to face the world alone,
What would my future be should yours be shared
By Grace or Joan?

Don't you look upon the thing as settled, will you?
Why should we, either of us, suffer pain?
And I, for one, can't eat or sleep until you
Ask me again. —Punch.

AN AFTER DINNER THOUGHT.

Oh, my, signor, how seeek I feel
From som'theeng I have ate!
I had wan oyster een my meal
Dat wassa catch' too late!
Oh, my, dat soocha leetla theeng
Could mak' so bigga change!
Does morna I could dance an' seeng,
But now I feel so strange,
I no can 'tand to beezaness,
But seeta theenkin' here,
An' w'at I theenk you nevva guess,
Eet ees so vera queer.
I theenk upon dat greata man
Dat ees da first to com'
For findin' deesa granda lan'—
Creestoforo Colomb'.
Ees dagoman like me, you know—
Eh? Yes, but wait, signor.
I tal you som'theeng, mebbe so,
You nevva hear bayfore.
I theenk upon Colombo w'en
He beg hees queen dat she
Would justa geeve heem sheeps an' men
For help heem cross da sea,
But could no gat da theengs he need,
How mooch he coax an' beg.
Onteel she see da theeng he deed
Weoth justa leetla egg.
Aha, my frand, so you have read
An' know da story too?
He stan' dat egg upon eets head,
Like no wan else could do.
An' so da queen she clap her han's
An' tal Colombo den:
"Now you can go for find dose lan's.
I geeve you sheeps an' men."
You know w'at happen after dat,
Ees notheeng more to say,
But here ees queera thought I gat
Eenside my head today:
Su'pose—I ask you now—su'pose
Dat egg he bust was bad!
You theenk da queen would hold her pose
An' smila just as glad?
You theenk she gona tal Colomb'
She geeve heem sheeps an' sooch
An' evratheeng he need to com'?
You bat my life, not mooch!
I tal you eef dat egg was bad
As deesa taste I gat
Colombo mebbe woulda had
Sooch trobla after dat
Dees lan' where now we are so glad
Would no be founda yat.

WHITE FRUIT HOUSE.

To many people, Tea as a beverage, is a revelation. They have been accustomed all their lives to look upon and think of tea as an excuse for drinking hot water. There's a reason. Visit the demonstration now going on in the basement of Wolf & Dessauer's store, and drink a cup of tea, served as a beverage — the proper kind made in the proper way.

Throat Trouble

Famous Opera Singer Recommends the Electric Treatment Used by Dr. Wells, of Fort Wayne.

Miss Mary Quive, who came to Fort Wayne last year as the leading lady in the "Woodland Opera Company" at the Majestic theater, was compelled to stop off here for treatment on account of throat trouble.

Miss Quive was so pleased with the results of the treatment she received at the hands of Dr. Wells, as compared with other treatment she has had, that she volunteered to make a public statement for the benefit of others who have throat disease. Below follows the statement made by Miss Quive: "I have taken treatment for my throat from Dr. Wells with exceedingly gratifying results and I desire to say to the public that I believe from the experience I have had, the electric treatment used by Dr. Wells in curing throat trouble is vastly superior to the older methods in use, and I take great pleasure in recommending it to other throat sufferers.

"MARY QUIVE,
" 'Savage Opera Co.' "

Miss Quive is a sister of Grace Van Studiford, the famous opera singer so well known to Fort Wayne theater goers.

The electric treatments used by Dr. Wells in curing throat troubles has great advantages over ordinary methods and the doctor has in many instances secured results where others have failed. His office is located at 229 East Berry street, opposite the Air Dome theater.

SPLASH IN PUDDLE.

Is Merely Capable of Much Noise Says Resolution.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 27.—"Lincoln Steffens is only a momentary and soon to be forgotten splash in the puddle of reform."

This was the gist of a resolution adopted by the W. C. T. U. yesterday. It contained the annual message of the president, who discussed the different reform movements of the country under a separate head. Her findings concluded with the declaration that the temperance cause was the one great needed deform. This was agreed to unanimously.

The W. C. T. U. president, Mrs. R. M. White, explained afterward that she did not mean to take a particular slap at Mr. Steffens.

"It is only," she said, "that his work amounts to nothing. He has caused a great talk and noise, but, as we see it, he has accomplished nothing. Truly, he is but a splash in the puddle. He will be forgotten before the reforms he advocates are even seriously considered by serious minded people."

SAVED HIS BOY'S LIFE.

"My three year old boy was badly constipated, had a high fever and was in an awful condition. I gave him two doses of Foley's Orino Laxative and the next morning the fever was gone and he was entirely well. Foley's Orino Laxative saved his life." A. Wolkush, Casimer, Wis. Dreier & Bros.
